ROCKFORD HUNTS FOR DEAD

HUNDREDS HOMELESS IN ILLINOIS CITY AFTER TORNADO—PORTO RICO DISASTER GROWS

WILL CENTRES ON FUNERAL RIVALRY OF BANDIT GANGS

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Sept. 15. — I think some of these crooks are just getting killed to show they can have a bigger and finer funeral than their rival had.

It's hard to tell whether there is more guns or flowers at the funeral.

I would rather have the undertaker's privilege with some good high class gang than to have a seat on the Stock Exchange.

In order to out do each other, some gangs will start raising their own flowers.

Two railroad events took place this week for the first time. John Coolidge went to work on one, and Al Smith starts to ride on one.

John had to go to work in an old New England town. It's the only place where he could find a room in America for $12.

Al, don't try to sleep in that hammock.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Pa Newc was up looking the flower show at the Highland avenue school yesterday afternoon. There were hundreds of bouquets of flowers that those children brought in and the display would rival any that a lot of older folks would arrange. There was every imaginable sort of flower exhibited and the children should be complimented on their beautiful display.

Talk about mowing lawns at home. You should see them mowing the big terrace at the Cathedral. One man stands at the top of the bank and holds a rope that he has tied on the mower, while the other man pushes. It must be quite a chore. Don't complain about keeping your own weeds cut and the lawn mown.

In front of one of the grade schools in the city yesterday Pa Newc observed a little man crying and trying to get back on a car that was in the street. It was a little fellow possibly six years old, who didn't want to go back to school for the afternoon. His father stopped the car and took him in.

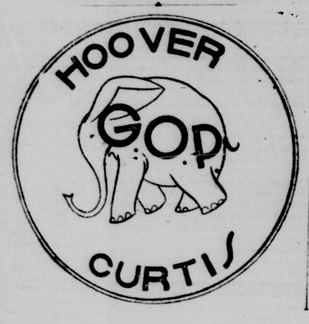

Pa Newc observes: Two girls with long blonde hair walking down street—a young woman sitting in the rear seat of a car parked on the Diamond calmly puffing a cigaret—a stenographer who crochets in her spare time—a horse and buggy going down Washington street—a man with one arm who says he can break an egg and put it in the skillet without breaking the yolk—woman going down street singing.

The City building looks fine since the coat of paint has been applied to the sills, et cetera. A coat of paint on the trimming sections of buildings makes a great improvement. One building on Washington street was partially scrubbed and the appearance was changed considerably for the better.

New Castle made another big jump in air circles when the aero club was announced. The announcement of such an organization came as a complete surprise to most all of us. If you want to boost aviation, get a membership in the club.

Jaworski Under Heavy Guard To Prevent Rescue

Officials Interpret Jaworski's Boast Of Escaping Chair As No Idle Threat

BELIEVES GANG WILL SAVE HIM

Every Precaution Taken To Bring Famous Killer To Speedy Trial; Arraigned Today

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 15.—The boast of Paul Jaworski, bandit, killer and jail breaker, that he will never die in the electric hair, was interpreted as a possible threat by police here today.

With John Vasbinder, Jaworski's pal—a drug addict and gunman almost as desperate as himself, still at large, authorities were apprehensive of an attack on City hospital where Jaworski lies, critically wounded.

Thursday, Jaworski killed Patrolman Anthony Wieczorek, wounded Patrolman George Effinger, and a bystander, Benjamin Majstrek, before he was trapped in a house, wounded and captured. Vasbinder fled when the shooting began and has not yet been found.

Jaworski also told officers last night that the remanants of the old "flathead gang" of which he was once the leader, were in town, armed with machine guns and explosives. He intimated that Vasbinder would lead them in an attempt to free him.

Closely Guarded

As a result, a cordon of police had been stationed around the hospital today. Inside, in the police ward, Jaworski's cot is constantly watched by police, with their guns ready for instant action. Downstairs windows and doors were kept securely locked last night.

Detective Inspector Cornelius Cody later decided to disarm the police who guard Jaworski's cot. He said he was taking no chances on letting the killer get his hands on a gun.

Jaworski led the "flathead gang" when it was the terror of Western Pennsylvania. A number of sensa-

Governor Smith Plans More Stops

To Make Brief Stop At Some Of Smaller Towns In Middle-West

REVISE ITINERARY OF GOVERNOR'S TOUR

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 15. — Governor Smith broadened the scope of his Western tour today.

Instead of stopping only at the half dozen large cities of the West where he is scheduled to deliver major speeches the Democratic nominee will stop as well at a score of smaller towns in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Colorado, the corn growers of Nebraska, the wheat farmers of Kansas and the Oil workers of Oklahoma all will have an opportunity to see—and possibly hear— the New York governor.

Revise Tour

The itinerary of the governor's Western tour has been completely revised. None of the major dates has been changed, but there has been added a score of stops for his special train which were not contained in the original schedule made public ten days ago.

Governor Smith has yielded to the importunities of his campaign managers that there is a real chance of striking a telling blow in the grain belt and the re-vamped schedule is the result.

Governor Smith will make three stops in Nebraska, fourteen in Kansas, three in Oklahoma, and four in Colorado, under the revised schedule announced today.

Kansas is the native state of Senator Charles Curtis, the Republican vice-president nominee. It is traditionally Republican, being one of the grain belt states that returned a really handsome majority for the Coolidge-Dawes ticket in 1924. Yet, the

JURY FINDS TYRELL GUILTY OF SECOND DEGREE MURDER

Jury In Pittsburgh Murder Case Spends Night In Deliberation

Crime Was Sensational Shooting In Munhall Church Last May

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 15.—Fayette J. Tyrrell, Sunday school teacher, was found guilty of second degree murder in a verdict returned by the jury when criminal court convened here today. Tyrrell killed Philip Clark, husband of his stenographer, in the First Christian church, Munhall, last May.

Conviction on this count calls for a sentence of 10 to 20 years in Pennsylvania.

The verdict was delivered to Visiting Judge Robert A. Stots of Northampton county, when court convened today. The jury of eight men and four women were given the case yesterday afternoon, and when they had failed to return a verdict at 8 p. m., were locked up for the night.

Tyrrell pleaded not guilty to the murder charge, claiming he shot Clark because he feared the man meant to take his life. Tyrrell was attorney for Mrs. Clark in her suit for

Seek To Rescue Kidnaped Youth; Life Threatened

Police In Charge Bend Every Effort To Locate Missing William Ranieri

TWO MEN HELD AS AIDING KIDNAPERS

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.— Salvatore Mastroianni, erstwhile cammorist and black hand terrorist was today formally charged with the kidnaping of ten-year-old Billy Ranieri, who mysteriously disappeared while on his way home from school here ten days ago.

The booking of Mastroianni on the child abducting charge followed his confession last night to assistant State's attorneys Samuel Hoffman and Charles Mueller that he had acted as "runner" in dealings with the kidnapers who are holding the boy under threat of murder for a ransom of $60,000.

Former Employe

Renoldo "the skid" Schiedo, another prisoner booked on the same charge is a former employe of Frank Ranieri, the lad's father.

Indications that Schiedo and Mastroianni might have made more admissions than announced was borne out when squads of detectives armed with riot guns and tear bombs, soon after the alleged confession sped to the Northern section of the city without announcing their destination. It was generaly rumored that they had learned the boy's hiding place and meant to rescue him.

Haste in the rescue is a prime element since it was indicated in the original threat sent to the father by the kidnapers who fixed today as the "deadline" for the payment of the ranson money and stated that the child's head would be cut off if the father failed to send the amount stated.

Hoover Confers With Veterans Of World War

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. Ignoring all appeals for a personal denunciation of "whispering" attacks on Governor Alfred E. Smith, his Democratic rival, Herbert Hoover today turned his attention to plans for winning the soldiers' vote to the Republican cause.

The Republican nominee invited to luncheon members of the Republican Service League, comprising veterans who served in the World War. All chairmen of the organization in eastern states were called here for a conference first with Dr. Hubert Work, the national chairmen, and then to attend the Hoover luncheon.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 15.—The well dressed man in Western Pennsylvania is mighty uncomfortable today.

Style dictates a derby or felt hat beginning today—but the thermometer which mounted past the 84 mark in some parts of the region, brought straw hats and light suits back to popularity.

The heat wave was general over the Upper Ohio Valley and Lower Lake Region. Cooler weather was predicted for tonight. Today the west was experiencing cooler weather and a drop of 20 degrees was predicted tonight.

Hillsville Man Is "Not Guilty"; Costs Divided

Thomas Shulack Is Acquitted By Jury On Charge Of Possessing Liquor

NASH AND WEBSTER ARE ALSO CLEARED

In the case of Thomas Shulack of Hillsville, tried before Judge Hildebrand in Lawrence county court, on a charge of possessing liquor, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. Two thirds of the costs were placed on the prosecutor, Constable J. W. Miller, and one third on Shulack.

The case was tried before a jury of eight women and four men. Seizure of the alleged liquor displayed in court was made during a dance at the Shulack home in which the officers got into a fight with Shulack and the guests.

It was claimed by witnesses for the commonwealth that some of the liquor seized tested as high as 30 per cent. alcohol, but the defense claimed that the alleged liquor was vinegar. It was also sought to show that Miller had a grudge against the defendant, which was denied.

After the verdict had been returned, Special District Attorney William McElwee made a motion that the costs be set aside as to Miller, claiming that he had brought the action in good faith. The motion was granted.

In the case of the commonwealth against Frank Webster, charged with possessing liquor, tried before Judge Chambers, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty and County of Lawrence pay the costs.

In the case of Jim Nash, charged with possessing liquor, tried before Judge Chambers, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty, but pay the costs.

Mission Head Resigns Post

E. J. Berquist To Complete Work In City Mission October 1

BOARD TAKES ACTION ON HIS RESIGNATION

At the meeting of the board of directors of the city Rescue Mission, held Friday evening, September 14, the resignation of E. J. Berquist as superintendent was presented and accepted. The resignation is effective October 1.

According to statements made by both Robert A. McKinney, president of the board and Mr. Berquist, the resignation came as a result of an honest difference of opinion between the superintendent and the board concerning the financial management of the mission. The actual conducting of the mission activities had no part in the resignation.

Mr. Berquist came to New Castle in 1911 and has been superintendent since then. Starting first on Croton avenue the work was successfully built up until several years ago when the old Vendome Hotel on South Mercer street was taken over and has been in use since.

President McKinney stated today that a new superintendent would be secured within a short time. Mr. Berquist's plans for the future were not made known.

TALES OF RETURNING AUTO TOURISTS

SEES FIRE TRAGEDY

Robert A. Bailey of 910 Maryland avenue, who has just returned from a Canadian automobile trip, reports a rather tragic and sorrowful sight which his party came upon while tourning near the city of Montreal.

Approaching the small French town of Ville St. Pierre, located about one mile and a quarter outside of Montreal, Mr. Bailey and the other occupants of the car noticed that a fire of no small proportion was in progress. They had arrived just at the beginning, around three o'clock in the afternoon.

They saw the fire increase as time went on, another house and then the walls of another would be enveloped by the fire. The town's horse drawn fire department rushed to the scene, but it seems as if no steps were being taken to stop the blaze. Suddenly, Mr. Bailey says, someone yelled: "Where's the key?" And then everything explained itself.

The firemen apparently couldn't find the key to turn the water on and the flames continued. Firemen from Montreal and several other cities were called, but their hurried trips were in vain. The wind had decreased and the fire had stopped.

Seventeen homes lay in ruins and their occupants stranded. And all this damage and desolation was done in four hours. Later it was found that the fire had started in what was formerly a stable.

Mr. Bailey declares that for a while, he thought a moving picture concern was really staging the fire for a film. Everything was so dramatic, and the "town's fire fighters were hampered because they couldn't find the key for the water plug."

STORM IS HEADING FOR FLORIDA COAST

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. — The tropical hurricane which wrought havoc in Porto Rico today was moving in a northwesterly direction from a point just east of the Bahamas, and, barring deflection will strike the northern Florida coast, the weather bureau reported today.

The storm passed over Turks Island, at the extreme east of the Bahamas, about midnight, without causing serious damage. Weather experts declared there was no cause for anxiety at present, as the storm was moving at a rate of about 300 miles a day and there would be ample time for warning if it should head into the Florida coast. They declare there was a possibility of the hurricane's being deflected out to sea

Eight Plants And Many Homes Collapse In Terrific Tornado

ELEVEN BODIES NOW RECOVERED

Death Toll Of Other Mid-West Storms Are Mounting Toward Fifty

(International News Service)

Death, disease, destruction and desolation were the gaunt four horsemen riding in the wake today of one of the worst storms in the history of the country.

Twenty-eight known dead and the possibility the total may reach 50 lives, millions of dollars in property damage, thousands homeless, disease, privation, misery and famine.

Seventeen persons lost their lives in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota yesterday before there swept into Rockford, Ill., a howling wind maelstrom which shook the city in its merciless grasp, leaving behind scenes of chaos.

Eight industrial plants collapsed, burying an unknown number of workers. Eleven are known to be dead and more buried beneath tons of twisted steel and mortar. Twelve hundred are homeless.

Thousands Homeless

Tens of thousands are homeless in Porto Rico following a tornado, the worst in many years. Frantic calls for aid have been sent out by the governor of the island to avert threatened famine and disease. No deaths have been reported, but because of the impaired wire facilities remote places in the island have been unable to communicate with San Juan.

An inquest to determine the exact cause of the accident and resulting death will be held Wednesday evening of next week at the office of Alderman L. C. Mantz.

Across the land there comes the cry of candidates in lusty voice, admitting that they are the best and should be made the people's choice. Joe Spiffus wants to run the jail, his brother wants to be a judge, and so they throw their well known line, of applesauce and other sludge. One fellow says he is the man to be the people's choice for mayor, and so he gets a radio and clutters up the evening air. It is the time for candidates to get their annual air play, and folks must listen to their spiel, its up and eighty-four today.

Begin Search For Murderer Of Four Boys

Boy Tells Authorities He Knows Of Three Murders Committed With Hatchet

FIND YOUTH'S HEAD IN SHALLOW GRAVE

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 15.—Disclosures of a desolate murder farm near here, where four boys are believed to have met death at the hands of a hatchet wielding fiend, today prompted authorities to begin an international search for the suspected slayer.

Police today announced that Stewart Northcott, 21, who lived with his father, Cyrus George Northcott, on a West Riverside chicken ranch, is the suspect sought.

It was on the Northcott farm, authorities allege, that the four successive boy-murders were committed.

The account of Stanford Clark, 15, was the factor leading the police to identify the slayer, it was announced. Young Clark, under questioning, declared that he had lived with the murderer on his ranch as a prisoner and that he knew of the brutal killing of three boys with a hatchet. All were under 12 years of age.

Find Boy's Head.

Clark's story was partially confirmed when investigating officials went to the ranch and there found a shallow grave containing the head of a boy.

According to Clark, two of the victims were Nelson Winslow, 9, and Lewis Winslow, 12.

A startling aspect of young Clark's account was his naming of Walter Collins as one of the victims. Young Collins, who was kidnaped from his home, was the object of a nation-wide search and recently a boy, saying he was Walter, was returned to the Collins home here.

He was rushed to the New Castle hospital, where on examination his condition was found to be critical. He never regained conciousness.

Mr. McCreighton was born July 13, 1865 in Ireland, the son of Joseph and Mary McDonald McCreighton. He had been a resident of this city for about forty years and up until about six months ago, when he was pensioned, he was employed in the blacksmith department of the New Castle Works of the Carnegie Steel Company. He was a member of St. Mary's church and was never married. The body has been removed to the McGonigle Funeral Home on North Jefferson street until the time of the funeral.

Mr. McCreighton leaves no relatives other than some nephews, who reside in Pittsburgh. Funeral services will be held Monday morning in St. Mary's church. Interement will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

something that he found on the way which is of interest and you may not know of it. You will get a tourist education in the column.

You might say that a fifth of the population of New Castle is enrolled in the public schools here. If that isn't a record for any city, Pa Newc would like to know what a record is.

New Castle scored another home run hit when she landed the convention of the Allegheny Regional Advisory Board. According to James W. Cole, the Cathedral, the Castleton and the new golf course had much to do with it. New Castle is going right ahead!

Next Tuesday is the second of three fall registration days prior to the coming November election. Every citizen who desires to vote in November must be registered this fall, in order to be eligible. Register Tuesday if you have not already done so. Do not wait until the final day!

Owen Penfield Fox, New Castle artist, has the cover page drawing on the current issue of "The Pacific Sportsman" this month. Likewise he has a drawing of a girl in the current issue of "The Trail." Mr. Fox is making rapid progress as a magazine illustrator. During the year no less than 50 of his drawings have been used in various periodicals.

There will probably be some soft-hearted individuals that will arise and demand clemency for the desperate Jaworski, who was captured in Cleveland, O., after a career of crime which he confessed included killing of 26 persons. If ever there was a case where speedy justice was merited, and the extreme penalty for murder meted out, this is it.

Up in the North Highland section whoever arranged the municipal Christmas tree celebration last year, forgot about taking the tree down. The tree is still standing, rather a blot on the landscape.

Young Pa Newc was in New Wilmington last night, the little village with the Gothic architecture in case you should ask, and shook hands with the sages and otherwise. Dean Dr. Charles Freeman is back at the college town after spending the summer at his home in New Mexico. Dr. Freeman starts his 35th year at Westminster at the opening of the fall semester next week.

If you would see comestibles do the disappearing act, if you would see culinary speed reduced to a frazzle, if you would see the prize hash of the chef completely annihilated, then go up to New Wilmington and watch the Westminster football training camp youngsters getting outside of food.

Pa Newc understands that "Lindy" French of this city, well known merchant, is planning an airplane hop to Pittsburgh and return. Frenchy likes flying, after his first experience.

During the sessions of the Third Class city convention in this city next week, especial tribute will be made to the memory of the late James A. Gardner, who for many years was an official of the league, as city solicitor of New Castle. The address of Judge Schoonmaker will touch upon with the life and work of Mr. Gardner.

SAN JUAN FOOD SUPPLY IS LOW; FAMINE STALKS

may cause disease among the homeless victims of the storm. According to Thomas E. Benner, chancellor of the University of Porto Rico, the meager food supply on hand will last only a few days. In cable dispatches to the United States he entreated immediate aid from all sources.

The tornado, now sweeping northward, may hit the coast of Florida today, it is feared. Several vessels in its path have not been heard from, but officials of the companies owning them are not anxious. However, there is some anxiety for the safety of Franz Romer, the German seaman, who crossed the Atlantic in a canoe and is now en route from this city to Florida in his frail craft.

Few Houses Escape

Scarcely a house in the city can be said to have escaped damage. It is estimated that 80 per cent of the population is homeless. Business is at a standstill and communication between the city and other parts of the island continues difficult.

To prevent a possible drought due to the failure of the water supply system, natives are catching the rain in whatever utensils they can find among the ruins of their homes.

Estimates of casualties of the storm are difficult because of the general disorganization. How the outlying districts of the island fared can only be conjectured because of the destruction of telephone and telegraph wires.

Everywhere the same picture is seen—debris on all sides, unroofed houses, uprooted trees and telegraph poles, overturned vehicles and streets and roads flooded from the torrential rains.

Government Aids

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—All governmental agencies for relief were made available today for survivors of the Porto Rican hurricane and the tornado which devastated a part of Rockford, Ill.

President Coolidge has ordered the navy to stand by with destroyers to rush any aid needed to Porto Rico. Already the Red Cross is awaiting word of the requirements of the island residents, with an expedition of five relief experts ready to board a naval destroyer at Charleston, S. C.

The War Department stands ready to render whatever aid is necessary for Rockford, as well as in Porto Rico, and will co-operate with the Red Cross in the work.

Radio communication with San Juan, P. R., has not been re-established, the Navy Department reported today. During the night the department got its first official word of the hurricane and the resulting damage via. Guantanamo, Cuba.

The radio station, LKA, about 30 miles from San Juan, is out of commission, the message stated, with all antennaes down. The hurricane reached a miximum velocity of 145 miles an hour. The quarters and barracks of communication officers were reported as being uninhabitable and other property suffered considerable damage. There were no casualties among the naval personnel, however.

Another message concerning general damage from the hurricane said: "Cyclone of extraordinary violence felt Thursday from 11 a. m. to four p. m., centering upon San Juan. Devastation everywhere. No details. All public service interrupted, electric lights, power, telephone, street cars and all communications. Eighty per cent of houses without roofs. The San Juan radio tower fell at three p. m. upon transmitting room. Port Au Prince reports all American cables and French cables disabled."

All is not lost. The American Druggist says only 15 women of each 100 buy lip sticks. Your chance of tasting nothing but girl is 6.66 to 1.

Every neighbor in Hades is a sinner who needs reforming. Won't Americans enjoy the place.

SEARCHING IN RUINS OF ROCKFORD PLANTS FOR WORKMEN'S BODIES

still staggered under the gigantic freak of nature, hundreds in the Middle West attempted today to rehabilitate themselves following the windstorm of early yesterday.

Recover Five More Bodies

ROCKFORD, Ill., Sept. 15.—The bodies of five more men, pinned beneath the wreckage of factory B of the Rockford Chair and Furniture Company, were seen today by rescuers who are attempting to clean away the twisted wreckage.

Six of the 14 believed to have been buried were found alive.

They were reported missing before it was learned they were at another plant at the time the cyclone struck Rockford.

This brings the death total to 11 men.

Twelve Hundred Homeless

ROCKFORD, Ill., Sept. 15.—Spent and gasping, Rockford struggled grimly today to rise from the tons of twisted wreckage beneath which her entire factory district lies buried.

Like a mythological monster, a black funnel-shaped cloud sucked her bare a diagonal path from 50 to 200 feet wide for two miles through the southeast section of the town.

Twelve hundred people are homeless, deprived of both shelter and livelihood, since most of them are workers in the factories near their homes.

Two Hundred Injured

The number of injured was estimated by authorities today at 200. Property damage, at first believed to amount to $25,000,000 odd, is actually only $5,000,000, a check today showed.

Three hundred homes were either whirled into gaunt masses of wreckage or flattened down like pancakes by the fanatic whim of the whirlwind.

How many persons lie buried in the collapsed factories is a matter of conjecture. In plant B of the Rockford Chair and Furniture Company, where rescuers worked all night, many men are believed buried. That plant, where the storm struck in its greatest fury, was a brick structure 300 feet long and four stories high.

It was lifted from its foundation, then set back again, with all but two upper stories telescoped into the basement.

GOVERNOR SMITH PLANS MORE STOPS

Democrats cannot forget that Woodrow Wilson carried it in 1912, and again in 1916.

Ready To Start

The heavy schedule arranged for Governor Smith throughout the length and breadth of the Sunflower state indicates that the Democrats do not believe that Kansas is as hopeless as may appear on the surface. At any rate they are unwilling to give it up without a battle. Governor Smith will spend three quarters of an hour in Senator Curtis' home town of Topeka.

The governor spent today working on details of his trip and in cleaning up various odds and ends of state business, for from now until November 6, Albany will see him for a few days at a time. As Governor Smith, himself expressed it, "the governorship of New York is out of the window for the balance of the campaign."

ASKING TOO MUCH OF EDUCATION

IN ALL ages man has been burdened with a self-imposed idolatry, although by no means invariably in the field of religion. Today we worship school and college courses. These are the graven images of the period. Whatever goes wrong, the school and college are expected to right it. To them we have given our moral and civic responsibility. When human behavior is disappointing, when injustice stalks abroad, when problems seem beyond solution, we shrug our shoulders and remark that the only remedy lies in education.

Great is the power and influence of the universities and colleges, but in simple truth they have no such omnibus curative powers. The educational system is but one of countless factors for good that must be kept alive by the struggles of the race. The wise leaders of institutions of higher learning are the first to admit that there are both possibilities and limitations in the individual which transcend the influence of courses or even of teachers.

It will take an incredible change indeed in the school curriculum to reform the motorist who hogs the road, or the pest who reads aloud the movie titles, or the moron. There are people with shallow characters and others with deep characters. There are those whose selfishness exceeds the bounds of decency, and others who think of their fellows as well as of themselves. This distribution of qualities, good and bad, is the result of heredity and environment and must take thousands of years to change. Education cannot correct these things as with a wave of a wand.

BETTER RADIO

THE reallocation of radio channels represents months of arduous effort on the part of the Federal Radio Commission and its engineers. The commission has had an exceedingly intricate problem to solve. Although the new order does not become effective until November 11, it is generally believed that the changes made will be for the better from the listeners' viewpoint.

Radio is now a vast industry. Millions of homes are interested in its development and millions of people are concerned with the distribution of music and speeches, etc., and the varied programs of entertainment and information to which they have become accustomed in an amazingly brief time.

The commission declares it has apportioned the ether channels, divided the broadcasting time and limited the station power so as best to serve the public as a whole. It has ordered many changes, silenced some broadcasting stations and curtailed the privileges of others, for only drastic reorganization could bring order out of the chaos into which broadcasting was rapidly drifting.

It would be too much to expect that the commission has succeeded in accomplishing all that it hoped to accomplish, but there is reason to believe that the new regulations will demonstrate their usefulness and the value of radio regulation. They should be given a fair trial. The commission has erected no bars to further changes where practice shows them to be needed.

VOTE FOR HOOVER AND THE PROTECTIVE TARIFF

NOT the least transparent piece of ballyhoo that has gone up from the cohorts of Boss Raskob is that which concerns the alleged conversion of the Democratic party to the policy of the protective tariff.

Just as the Democrats have endeavored to make their wet and dry campaign a double-barreled affair, with Smith to knock down the wet vote and Robinson to bag the dries, so did the Houston convention attempt to camouflage the truth as regard's the tariff.

In the same manner, the Democrats have spread fly-paper for voters in the form of the tariff planks in the Houston platform, and in the utterances of some of their leaders in interpretation thereof. Stripped of all ambiguity, however, the tariff planks reveal the same old "competitive tariff" skeleton which has marked every Democratic platform for the last forty years. Skeleton is an accurate word, for on the few occasions that they have been permitted to apply the competitive tariff idea suffering and disaster have followed.

The duplicity of the present attempt to convince the public of a Democratic change of heart, and the soundness of the Republican policy of the protective tariff which has brought the United States from its relatively weak position of 70 years ago to its present place of wealth and power, are set forth in a masterly manner in the Republican Tariff Textbook.

The Textbook is a comprehensive review of tariff history in the United States, abounding in statistical and other information concerning the economic position of the United States. Aptly, it opens with this quotation from the speech of acceptance of Herbert Hoover:

"The Republican party has ever been the exponent of protection to all our people from competition with lower standards of living abroad. We have always fought for tariffs designed to establish this protection from imported goods.

"We have pledged ourselves to make such revisions in the tariff laws as may be necessary to provide real protection against the shiftings of economic tides in our various industries. I am sure the American people would rather entrust the perfection of the tariff to the consistent friend of the tariff than to our opponents, who have always reduced our tariffs, who voted against our present protection to the worker and the farmer, and whose whole economic theory over generations has been the destruction of the protective principle."

Today

Nailing One Whisper.

Hail the Year 5689.

Capper on Hoover.

Generous Boo Boo Hoff.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

One lady is alleged to have written to another lady of West Virginia, who started whisperers whispering. That she, first lady, sat next to Gov. Smith's box at the Syracuse fair, when Gov. Smith "was grossly intoxicated, and, arising to speak from his box, was assisted by a friend on either side."

That's a fair sample, as Gov. Smith points out, of lies circulated in whispers.

The lady was NOT next to Gov. Smith's box. The Governor did NOT speak from the box. Photographs taken of him sitting there with his wife and Mrs. McCooey, of Brooklyn, show Gov. Smith perfectly sober, smiling at the assembled crowd. Fifty newspapermen, following the Governor all day and hearing him speak twice, help to nail that particular lie.

However, Gov. Smith's enemies have no monopoly of the whispering. In highly respectable New York corporation circles you may hear whispered and loudly-spoken lies, fanciful and outrageous, concerning Herbert Hoover. Lying and politics go together.

Friday Rosh Hashanah started the year 5689 in the Jewish calendar.

Jews and Gentiles believe that the earth's life is to be about 6,000 years altogether, if they take sacred writings literally. According to the Jewish count, that would leave only 311 years more for anything we have unfinished.

Fortunately science proves the Jewish calculation inaccurate. This little earth has existed for hundreds of millions of years and will sail around the sun, warm and comfortable, for hundreds of millions of years more.

So we really have time ahead in which to give up fighting and cheating each other and become civilized.

At a luncheon given by Mr. Desmond, head of the Young Men's Republican club in New York, Senator Capper told the writer and others "The West will go for Hoover more strongly than it ever went Republican in all the history of the Republican party."

Kansas, that gave 172,000 for Coolidge, Senator Capper said, will give 250,000 for Hoover. Farmers are for Hoover, according to Senator Capper, who ought to know something about it.

"Capper's Weekly," which prints this column, goes to 1,000,000 farmers. His farm papers have a combined circulation of 4,500,000.

One difficulty with prohibition and other sumptuary laws is this: Large sums are paid, handsome presents given, to those that permit violating the law. No presents, no salaries or large sums offered by those supposed to enforce the law.

Public Prosecutor Monaghan, of Philadelphia, says the genial Max Hoff, known to prize fighting circles as "Boo Boo" Hoff, gave Christmas presents to the police force of Philadelphia costing $250,000 in 1926. In addition to the $250,000, Philadelphia bootleggers spend gigantic sums for an all-year-round police salary payroll.

This means that politicians get their part and know what is done to corrupt the police. To the latter it seems like "taking money that somebody else would get if I didn't take it."

Not an easy situation for "enforcement."

Scientists working to discover "the secret of life" confess to little progress. Your body contains countless millions of living cells that breathe, eat, drink and die, while you go on living—all dying when you die.

The great biologist Hill says no scientists can make even ONE living cell.

Fortunately, no scientist NEED make a living cell. Plenty of them are here to reproduce their kind, from the devil fish in the depths of the ocean to the gunman in the depths of Chicago.

Pope Pius XI, in his third encyclical of 1928, issued yesterday, takes as his theme "The Unity of the Christian church and the Need for Realization that There Shall Be but One Shepherd and One Fold."

All non-Roman Christians, particularly the Church of England, and the Oriental churches, are urged to return to the fold of the Catholic church.

For centuries the popes have worked earnestly to bring about reincorporation of Eastern churches in the body of the Roman church.

France, following England's example, organizes an experimental "attack" on Paris. Four hundred fighting planes will test, for 48 hours, new plans for defending the French capital.

You may be sure the French won't depend on popguns along the shore, as we do, or anti-aircraft guns on the ground, as we do.

The French have 5,000 fighting airplanes, and any flier attacking Paris would feel like a clumsy crow pursued by kingbirds.

Chicago's detective commissioner says quite solemnly, "Lombardo's killers are known to us." That being the case, Commissioner, why in the name of bootleg murder don't you arrest them?

At least tell who the murderers are, since you know them. And if you can't find them, offer a reward to somebody that will find them?

The familiar statement, "We know who the murderers are," with nothing following, grows tiresome.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:09. Sun rises tomorrow 5:43.

Such a politicalness. Heinz preserve us!

Prisoners in a Massachusetts pen struck for a 20-minute recreation period. These babies evidently have to work part of the time.

If the president's son is really going to be married it would be too bad if he could not pull the wedding off in the White House. It seems to us that being married in the White House would be very katish and one would be liable to have it to be remembered by. So many forget they are married because they have nothing to remember it by.

You see, the reason risque stories moved into the house is because there aren't any livery stables any more.

The boy who once wept because he couldn't keep a nice yellow dog he found now cusses because he finds a woolly one in his favorite chair.

A bird was fined $800 for making "Canadian ale" in Erie and he had the Canadian labels and everything on the suds containers. That was what might be called adding insult to injury from a Canadian viewpoint at least.

Times have changed in the past 50 years or less. They are now playing tennis at Pumpkintown. We can remember the time when any one who even suggested playing that game out there would have been killed.

It is refreshing to find a clergyman willing to defend the youth of today. Unfortunately the defense of the youth of today is too frequently made by lawyers.

The National Woman's party has endorsed Hoover. We think that good policy and also it would be a good idea to have as few parties in the field as possible this fall. The prohibition party could very well endorse Hoover and not make it possible by reducing his vote by staying in the fight.

The speakies will force movie actors to learn a new trade, but think of the poor directors, who must function now without cussing.

The apple crop seems to be quite large this year in Pennsylvania. The more apples the more applejack. And it's scandalous stuff at its best.

A new German invention, an automobile motor bus using crude oil and dispensing with magneto and carburetor is about perfected, we are told. No doubt some day the first cost and operation of an automobile will be within the reach of all the people. Only a few don't have 'em now.

Let's not be fooled—Hoover Democracy, like beauty, is only skin deep.

The affairs of a Pittsburgh brewery were dragged into a murder investigation. Among the documents subpoenaed were the checks of the suds factory and they were taken into court in bundles and would have filled about 20 bushel baskets. The brewery business is still going some.

Perhaps the big fellows just think times are better after an election because they raise prices to get back their campaign contributions.

It seems that in return for making people wear copper-lined stomachs, bootleggers now have to wear bullet-proof vests.

Matrimony isn't a failure. Is a recipe a failure because you used bad eggs?

The retail sales in Pennsylvania in 1927 were the largest in the past eight years. No doubt the sale of automobiles and gasoline are counted as retail sales. It would be interesting to see a list of the articles sold at retail during the year.

It now seems certain that both Hoover and Smith will go to the White House—whenever the one sends for the other.

No man should ever be attacked for exercising the right the Constitution of the United States gives him. There are usually enough other substantial things to attack him for.

A good kicker has more friends on the gridiron than on the diamond.

DON'T LISTEN

If someone comes to you some day
And whispers in a quiet way:
"Did you hear about your old friend Sam?
They say he's in an awful jam.
He stole some stocks or bonds or such
And sure has got himself in Dutch.

Don't listen to it, but tell him flat
That "Sam's all right, you're sure of that."
For even tho' you may be wrong
There's no use to pass the thing along.
Folks will hear it soon enough,
And no doubt Sam is feeling tough.

Just go to Sam and say: "Old man,
They say you're headed for the can,
But don't you care what others think
I'll help you out of this or sink."
For if Sam's a friend that's worth the having.
He's sure a friend that's worth the saving.

The chances are that after all
The thing will prove to be stall,
Sam didn't take a bloomin' cent,
'Twas some other guy they meant.
But Sam's good name was nearly fixed
'Cause someone got his data mixed.
—"McK."

You didn't hear so much about the high cost of living in the old days when nobody below the ninth grade wore shoes before Thanksgiving.

One of the funny things we hear is birds attacking the religion of other men when they have none of their own. Be consistent!

Life without absorbing occupation is hell—joy consists in forgetting life.

Life is a burden to some people and others are a burden to life.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

"Baseball," said she, "reminds of the household. There's the plate, the batter, the fowls, the flies and so forth."

"Baseball," said she, reminds me of marriage. There's the diamond, when they are engaged, then the struggles and the hits, then the men going out, and finally, the difficulty they have in getting home."

Truth crushed to earth will rise again. But it isn't unique. A swatted fly will do that, also.

He is somebody's darling,
He is somebody's son.
Once he was feeble,
Once he was young.
Yes, someone had rocked him
In a cradle to sleep.
He is only a tramp
Found dead on the street.

A BIBLE THOUGHT

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE POWER TO BECOME

Just before leaving for his summer vacation, Dr. Fosdick of New York delivered a remarkable address on "The Power To Become."

He emphasized the fact that the redeeming element in Chrstianity is that it is a developer.

The history of religion has been stained with many crimes. It has been tyrranical, retroactive, bigoted at times. Taking into consideration the actions of the church at the time of Voltaire, he may have been justified in exclaiming, "Crush the infamous thing."

But Christianity has justified itself in spite of its drawbacks by its peculiar power to make something out of apparently hopeless soults. It is probably the greatest developer known to man.

The most important element of any man is his growing power. Not alone his ambition but his ability to develop into what he wants to be.

The remarkable thing about Alexander was not only his overweening ambition, but the fact that he really became a world conquerer.

John Fisk said that the essential characteristics of man is his improveableness.

The most amazing thing about any man is his discontent.

You cannot look on any man and estimate him as a fixed quantity. He may be such and such a thing today, but he may have the power to become something else tomorrow.

Reading the book Carnack by Oliver Gay we get a good picture of the crude man just as he became a thinking animal. Looking at him as the first discoverer of the Word, the Fire and such things, and comparing him with what man is today we realize man's immense capacity for becoming.

Projecting this line of development far into the future, what may man not become! Those who look upon heathen and barbarous people as impossible do not realize their power of growth. What may not China become in the future when the boundless opportunities of democracy have given it a chance!

Some one said of a new invention when it was as yet but a toy, "What good is that?" And the answer was, "What good is a baby?"

Who realized in the days of its infancy what the telegraph and telephone might become? Who realized when Edison was a telegraph oplawyer and Hoover working his way through school, what they might become?

Happiness is not a fixed state which anyone may arrive at. It appertains to our becoming. A man is happy as he grows. He usually is not happy when he stops.

What ever makes us stop either in youth or old age, whether it is adverse circumstances, misfortunes or what not, is tragedy.

There is only one blessedness for humanity as there is only one true life for a seed growth, and the supreme calamity is what ever makes us give up.

High Rank Among The Bravest Given Amundsen By Americans

Warm Admiration For Heroism Of Discoverer Of South Pole Marks Comments On Proof Of His Tragic Death

A place in the highest rank among brave explorers and adventurers of all time is accorded by the American press to Roald Amundsen, whose death in the Arctic is accepted as fact since the finding of wreckage from the plane in which he started to the rescue of the Nobile expedition.

"A brave ending," says the SAVANNAH MORNING NEWS. "Such men do not care a lot about dying in their beds. To fall gloriously from the Arctic sky when on a rescue mission, and to end quickly amid the sort of scenes he had learned to love as well as to respect for their terror, such was not an unfitting end for this explorer." The YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR adds that "he faced death as he faced life and unknown waters, and is one more of the world's great company that gave lives to discovery that is often made only through courage, privation and suffering."

"Few men," according to the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL, "knew the wilderness of the north and south as he, and none was more at home in the Arctic waste. The veteran explorer loved adventure and thrived on hardship. As a boy in his teens he began the career that led to the discovery of the South Pole and several visits to the top of the world." The BAY CITY DAILY TIMES believes that "Amundsen in death will be a far greater figure than Amundsen in life, and it is certain that his name will occupy a most prominent place in history." That paper also says that "it seemed that he loved the frozen wastes, and that he desired to spend his lost moments there."

"Greatest of explorers, hero in death as he was in life," is the tribute of the PASSAIC DAILY HERALD, as it visions "a gallant company of high-hearted adventurers with whom he has a place in the Valhalla of the Vikings—Sir John Franklin, Admiral Robert Peary, Gen. A. W. Greely, Capt. Robert Francis Scott and those other brave souls who sought the North and South Poles. Who will say that among them there is one that is greater than he?" asks The Herald.

"It was a heroic undertaking in which Amundsen and his men in the seaplane with him were engaged," declares the CHATTANOOGA TIMES, "and the circumstances under which they died, on a mission of mercy, lend a glory to their deaths. For Amundsen, the end was particularly fitting, since it came while he was engaged in trying to rescue one with whom he had quarrelled." And the BUTTE MINER remarks: "If the multitude of men never profit by the discoveries and researches of Amundsen, they still will benefit immeasurably from the common knowledge of his character, which was one of generosity even unto death, of fearlessness and determination that recognized no obstacle or hardship too great to be overcome."

"The embodiment of Norse hardiness," says the NEW YORK SUN, "sleeps forever in the Arctic. The conqueror of the South Pole and the NORTHEAST PASSAGE had won his place in Valhalla; this last adventure is the splendid cap of his monument. We are told that one of the finest things for man to do is to lay down his life for a friend. How much more magnificent it was for Amundsen to perish in the attempt to save a man he disliked, probably despised!"

"More than any other man he came to know the thrill of the vast polar solitudes," states the DALLAS JOURNAL, while the SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS recalls: "Amundsen had been with Nobile on the Norge, when that dirigible was piloted from Spitzbergen to Alaska—by way of the North Pole—in May, 1926. After the voyage, a controversy arose between them, and they were not on good terms when the Italia was forced down near Spitzbergen last May. The disaster to the airship, which was returning from a flight to the North Pole, removed all discord from Amundsen's mind. His only thought was how he best could help rescue Nobile and the others marooned on the ice floes."

"The fate of Amundsen has engaged the sympathy and sorrow of all who love heroic men and courageous deeds," avers the LOS ANGELES EXPRESS, with the thought that "death might well have aimed at a less brightly shining mark than the gallant discoverer of the South Pole."

The MANCHESTER UNION cannot agree that the tragedy was an appropriate last chapter in the explorer's story. "There is a disappointment, a bitterness, a certain cosmic insult in the manner of the death of Amundsen," says that paper. "Technically, there is no difference between his destruction by the elements and that of anyone else associated with the tragic incidents of the Italia. But it seems altogether unfitting that this son of the Vikings, who had roamed the seas from pole to pole, facing what to others had been insuperable difficulties, should be suddenly swept into oblivion in the gap between Norway and the Spitzbergen Islands. Like the leader of the Light Brigade at Balaklava, who was killed by a fall from his horse while on a morning ride along the smooth, hedge-lined roads of England, this veteran of a hundred Arctic storms met his death almost off his own horse."

His death, to the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL, "emphasizes anew the tragedy that has stalked the rather vainglorious excursions of Gen. Nobile to the pole. The fatalities in rescue parties was greater than that of the original excursion. For the future, there should be fewer of these rash adventures."

"Great as his achievements were," concludes the KALAMAZOO GAZETTE, "Amundsen deserves equal honor in history for his fine character as a man. Next to courage, his dominating trait was modesty. Even in the bitter quarrel aroused by Nobile regarding the division of credit for the success of the Norge expedition, Amundsen did not attempt to speak for himself until he had been provoked to the extreme. When he finally did rise in his own defense, his manner was characteristically mild, his words quiet and dignified."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE HUMAN HOOVER

The American public likes its heroes human,—or at least to be given enough material for it to humanize, even to the point of rearing pleasant myths. This has applied to its political heroes, especially those bygone party leaders whom campaign orators love to apostrophize. Living candidates the public likes to have at least a bit colorful, to yield it some concept it may carry through campaigns.

Candidate Smith had already his established repute of captivation. But, as some professional politicians feared, was Candidate Hoover too aloof and pallid, as well as reticent and non-oratorical, to permit of any real "human" reaction? Too much of the cold engineer-economist. That worry may now be shelved.

It has been said many times that the acceptance speech of Herbert Hoover, quite apart from its own intrinsic merits of truth and logic, had the virtue of a new quality,—then first revealed so far as the mass of his countrymen were concerned. That was the purely human element.

It found lucid expression in terms of the family, the home and the individual—of the young as well as the adult—which lent a new warmth and power to the central thoughts dealing with government, and with economics today necessarily so engrossing the governmental mind.

At his birthplace in Iowa the candidate reinforced notably the impression first created at Palo Alto, in the home of his youth. It was an impression of the heart as well as of the head. There was presented a rare opportunity—and it was not missed. The message to neighbors—conveyed with word felicity as striking as the evident sincerity of feeling—carried a charm which every other dweller in the country (and most of those in the city) could not escape. It had its humor as well as its real literary beauty.

Candidate Hoover has just recrossed the continent, traveling more than 8,000 miles through 19 states, being greeted by nearly a million persons and making five prepared addresses and more than two dozen platform talks. He has had a good initiation in acquaintance-making through the nation.

An Illinois lady called out, "Well, Mr. Hoover, you do look just like any other man!" That typifies the beginning of the process of a new—or, for the woman a renewed—acquaintance. For it is long since the war days.

It is all only part of a bigger story; but there is at least some political significance in the spreading conception of a human or humanized Hoover.

Epidemic Of Robberies Here

Police Investigate Several Burglaries That Occur Here On Friday

A number of small robberies reported to the police last night and this morning are being investigated. So far no arrests have been made.

John Pacelli, 319 East Long avenue, reported the theft of his car from in front of 1030 Pollock avenue last night. It was found in the B. & O. yards by Officers Dukes and Lockard. It was wrecked.

In it were found a cash register in which there were papers indicating that it was the property of Dominick Bartieri, 856 Arlington avenue. The officers visited that place and found that the front door had been broken open and the cash register, cigarets, potato chips, etc, taken.

Lloyd Litrenza, 315 Taylor street, who has a store at that number, reported his place as having been robbed. Officers Lockard and Criswell investigated. The glass of a rear door had been broken to gain entrance. Cigarets and tobacco were taken there.

The third attempt in a very short period of time was made last night to enter the poolroom at 14 West Long avenue. The effort to enter was made at a side door and window but was unsuccessful.

A robbery was reported at the Wayne and Eckert gasoline service station 1305 Cunningham avenue. On investigation, it was found that the locks on two gasoline pumps had been broken and twelve gallons of gasoline taken.

Theft of $25 in cash from the counter at the Mahoning Supply company place on South Liberty street Friday was cleared up today by the apprehension of a boy, who confessed to the theft and made restitution.

Bobby Jones Is Holding Lead In Nine-Hole Play

Bobby Jones Is 3 Up On Tom Perkins, British Champ In Amateur Title Match

(International News Service)

WEST NEWTON, Mass., Sept. 15.—Maintaining his customary aplomb in the face of a bad start, Bobby Jones, the kid himself, was 3 up on Tom Perkins, British amateur champion, after nine holes had been played this morning in the final round of the national amateur golf championship. It was a unique final, with the American champion playing for his title against the best in all Britain, but, for this nine holes at least, the best was like Kipling's worst. For Perkins blew, after getting a one-hole lead at the first, just like all of Jones' opponents seem to do, being forced to pick up at the fourth and sixth and taking a 6 at the fifth.

The British champion also finished second at the ninth hole, losing with a 5 to Jones' par 4. The famous Robert, champion in 1924, 1925 and 1927 and how seemingly well on his way to another title started very badly with an approximate 6 at the par 4 first hole, driving into the woods, hitting a tree with his out, dubbing his third and taking a penalty stroke for inadvertently touching the ball as he took his stance to putt. Barring this display, however, Jones played absolutely par golf the rest of the way, taking 37 strokes to the turn. Perkins' medal score only could be estimated but it wasn't better than 42.

No Word Available As To Damage Suffered Or How Family Fared

No information has as yet been received as to the possible effect of the hurricane in Porto Rico at the plantation of Bert Stevenson, former New Castle man, or as to how the New Castle family fared in the storm.

The message received today follows:

"No definite news except press flashes."

College Building Nears Completion

OLD MAIN MEMORIAL, WESTMINSTER

The new main building for Westminster college now being erected will be ready to occupy by January 1, 1929. It contains 20 class rooms, 15 department offices, executive offices and a chapel with a seating capacity of 700. The style of the edifice is Gothic modified along collegiate lines. It is built from local stone and trimmed in Indiana stone.

The exterior of the building is completed while rooms in the interior in the second and third floors have been plastered. Workmen have been plastering the ground floor of the building this week.

The main portion of the building is being finished first and the finishing and decorating of the chapel will be done following the completion of the class rooms and offices. A special fund of $50,000 has been established in order to make it a most beautiful chapel.

Building operations were started in June of 1927 on the Old Main Memorial. It will cost $360,000 in addition to the $50,000 used for decorating the chapel.

Following complaint by Dr. J. M. I GET SOME COMFORT—

Out of remembering that no election has ever ruined the country completely.

Out of remembering that every generation has worried over the younger generation.

Out of remembering that even some of Jesus' friends proved false.

Out of remembering that Mark Twain did some of his best work while in debt.

Out of remembering that no one can make God believe a lie about me.

Out of remembering that even the worst trouble can't last always.

Out of remembering that nothing wrong can be permanent.

THE FOG HORN

There is a fog upon the lake,
And through the misty gray
There comes the groan the fog horns make
To warn the ships away.

"Beware! beware!" the fog horn moans,
"The rocks and shoals are near."
Across the waters fly the tones
For sailormen to hear.

Through fog the sailors cannot see
Where all the dangers lie,
And so the ear becomes to be
The servant of the eye.

Oh, would there were a horn to boom
When pleasure blinds the sight,
To warn us of impending doom
And guide us to the right!

MARTIN JOHNSON
AMERICAN MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY
77TH STREET AND CENTRAL PARK WEST
NEW YORK CITY

November 8th, 1927.

Willys-Overland, Inc.,

New York City.

Attention Mr. H. M. Davis

Dear Mr. Davis:

I promised to write you about the performance of the Willys-Knights that I purchased during our four years' use of them in the mountains and the veldts of Central and East Africa.

To sum it up briefly, the Willys-Knights are my first and only choice where the maximum of rugged strength and power is the primary requisite.

The fact that the bodies are built so rugged and the Knight engine is so simple in design, with so few parts, has made the small repairs easy even for my black boys.

Our roads were mostly camel trails through unexplored country, and our Knights were given the hardest use a car could get, but they stood up wonderfully. Now, after four years, they are as good as ever, and live up to your slogan that "they improve with use."

Mrs. Johnson and I think the Willys-Knight is the best, simplest and sturdiest motor on earth.

With best wishes from us both.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) MARTIN JOHNSON.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND
BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

Sailor, Beware!

"'But,' continued Cormorant, and he laughed at the recollection, 'you never saw any bird so fat as a little Penguin. That is becaue all it does is to sit upon the shore while Papa and Mama Penguin work so hard to find fish for him to eat that they themselves grow as thin as sticks.

"'I shall never forget the first time I saw my cousin go to sea to fish. Walking to the shore, he threw himself flat upon his breast and floated out upon the waves. If he hadn't done this, he told me afterwards, he would have been dashed to pieces by the heavy swell upon the beach.

"'I had an interesting time of it at Cousin Penguin's, but I was glad when I could leave. Such a noisy place it was! Those birds came and went at all times of day and night and one family or other was always giving a party. I told my cousin I thought Penguin Island was the noisiest place I had ever visited and he agreed with me. But he said that after all, the noise did more good than it did harm, for more than once had Penquin cries warned the Two-Leg sailors to steer away from the rocks where the Penguins lived.'

"'Sailor, beware!' That is what their cry sounds like as the wind carries it over the water."

"My, what a fine time Cormorant must have had traveling about like that!" exclaimed Sonny-Bunny. "I just wish that I could visit some of my relatives—I am sure that there are plenty of them beyond these woods, but Mother will never let me go out of this old clover field—I think it is a shame, so I do." And the naughty little rabbit stuck out his pink tongue at his mother.

"But my dear little son," protested Mrs. Gray Rabbit, "I forbid you to leave this field because I am afraid that something might happen to you. Over and over again I have told you of the dangers that lurk for little rabbits that run away from home.

"That dreadful Mr. Fox is always on the lookout for a foolish bunny like you and if you should manage to keep out of his clutches there is Sharp-Eye the Hawk and Wuff-Wuff the Dog and you would not even be safe from Two-Legs himself. He would think that he had a perfect right to hit with his bang-stick any bunny that was poaching on his property. Here in this field you are at home. Every one knows you and you are sure of plenty to eat. What more can you wish?"

"I am tired to death of this old clover—every stalk tastes just alike and you always make such a fuss if I stay a minute in the cabbage patch. I wouldn't care much what happened to me if only I could have a little fun for once in my life. Anyhow I guess I am big enough to look out for myself." Sonny-Bunny tossed his head.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston, 35-year-old New York city matron, set a new endurance swimming record for both men and women this morning when she emerged from the Ravenhall pool at Coney Island after having remained in the water for sixty hours. After climbing out of the pool she collapsed from the strain of the long grind.

Mrs. Huddleston recently established a mark of 54 hours and 32 minutes only to see it broken later by Lee Fourrier who remained in a pool at Colton, Calif., for 56 hours and 56 minutes. Two bands played and a crowd of mardi gras celebrants cheered Mrs. Huddleston enthusiastically this morning when she passed Fourrier's record.

The trouble seems to be that the women who reads all the household magazines hasn't any time left for the household.

October 1 Is Moving Day For New York's Millions

One Is Old Resident When He Lives In One Apartment Three Years

New Yorker Finds It Impossible To Obtain Apartment Without Lease

By CLARK KINNAIRD
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The greatest migration in the world will soon be in progress, for Oct. 1 is moving day in New York. It is the time when leases expire and New Yorkers feel impelled to move, if only across the hall or around the block. It has become a tradition that no one dares ignore, like standing up to stretch, in the seventh inning at a ball game.

A friend of mine has been living in one apartment for three years and is the oldest resident of the neighborhood. In previous three years he moved six times. He resided at Broadway and 61st street, in 98th street, in a hotel in 45th street, in Kew Gardens, in Forest Hills and a second time in Kew Gardens!

Every time a new telephone book is issued, more than 600,000 of the million listings in one of the three volumes have to be changed. Connecting and disconnecting meters and similar duties performed by public utilities companies in connection with moving of tennants cost these companies more than $1,750,000 a year, they estimate. But it's great for the moving companies; they earn $50,000,000 a year transporting the household effects of vagabond-spirited New Yorkers from dwellings here to dwellings there.

The other great migration time is April 1. More moving is done then than in the autumn. Summer vacations tend to reconcile many New Yorkers to their homes for another six months.

In no city do neighbors fade as quickly as in New York. This is particularly true of the "show place" streets. Central Park West, Riverside Drive, Madison avenue, all have passed quickly as centers of wealthy residences. Fifth Avenue is going back rapidly, and Park Avenue is beginning to lose its exclusive hauteur.

Sometimes, as in the cases of Sutton Place and Washington Square, they recover some of their old "position."

Incidentally, it is almost impossible to obtain an apartment or house in any part of the city or suburbs without signing a lease. Hotels are the only exception, and many apartment-hotels require it. The person who wants to get a furnished apartment at a moderate rental for less than six months, or is in doubt as to how long he or she will be in New York and doesn't care to sign up for a definite period, is simply out of luck.

One of the famous members of a famous family lives in a 15-room suite in a swaggerish hotel in which most of the suites consist of two or three rooms. He gets the suite at more or less a "song" because his name lends tone to the place. The hotel caters to a class of make-believe rich persons who are willing to pay well in order to have a swell address. Persons not acquainted with the place read about Mr. ——— being there in a 15-room suite and imagine all of the guests have great apartments, when as a matter of fact most of them have two or three rooms, and do their entertaining in the "social apartment" provided for the purpose.

This apartment was installed in the apartment-hotel by a shrewd landlord who knew how much people like to put on the dog. It is exquisitely and expensively furnished, with rare works of art, antiques, etc. Tenants are permitted to use it when they entertain. Guests at the affairs suppose, of course, unless they are the same kind of poseurs, that the apartment is the regular dwelling place of the host and hostess.

What do you want to know about New York? Ask C. K., 2200 Times Building, New York, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Tin And Steel Mills Showing Marked Increase

New Castle Steel Mills Operate At 85 Percent Of Capacity

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington News Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 15.—There was a general improvement in the industrial employment situation in Pennsylvania as a whole during August and conditions remained fair in Pittsburgh and the surrounding industrial district, according to the figures of a survey conducted by the United States department of labor.

Production and employment in the iron and steel industry in the Pittsburgh and New Castle district was maintained at a high level throughout the month, the survey reveals. Steel mills operated between 80 and 85 per cent of capacity while tin-plate mills worked close to capacity.

Pipe mills have shown steady increase in operations and a corresponding gain in employment. Several open-hearth and blast furnaces that have been idle for some time resumed operations during the month, giving employment to several hundred men.

Employment in the rolling mills, pipe mills and open hearths in the Mahoning valley continued at a high level. Production increased slightly in some of the larger bituminous mines.

A large building program, as well as road construction, bridges and other outdoor work are under way thruout this district, affording employment to large forces of skilled and unskilled laborers.

Rushing Work On New Thoroughfare

Improvement Being Made In College Town Is Near Completion

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 15.—As the day for the opening of college at Westminster draws near, workmen are rushing the completion of sidewalks and sewer on the new Maple street development to the south of the campus.

On this new section of street, two women's dormitories are now situated, known as the Minteer and McKelvey houses. Since being moved from the college campus, these two houses have been painted on the outside and inside and have been papered. Furniture has been moved in during the last week, so that the cottage homes for freshmen girls will be ready for occupancy on Tuesday.

With the Minteer and McKelvey houses on the new section of Maple street and the Robertson house, another girls' dormitory, on the end of the old part of the street, three of the housing units are within 100 feet of each other. This will facilitate meal arrangements, as the dining room for all three houses is located in the middle house, the Minteer.

Graduate Work In Education To Be Continued

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 15.—Announcement was made yesterday that Westminster College will continue its graduate work in education this year under direction of Professor J. A. Shott, head of the department of psychology and education.

The results of this venture last year were such as to justify continuation of this service to college graduates in the district who desire to take additional education credits to satisfy the state requirements for permanent teacher's certificates.

Dr. C. A. Dawson, head of the department of English, offered a course in teachers' English during the second semester last year. In all probability, this course will be offered again this year.

The work for the first semester of graduate work at Westminster this year will be in educational sociology. The first class meets Saturday morning, September 29 at 11 o'clock in the conservatory building. Classes will be held Saturday mornings so that school teachers in New Castle and Sharon may avail themselves of the opportunity of graduate work on the campus without interfering with their teaching duties.

Flower Show At Highland School

Pupils Stage Beautiful Flower Show In Nature Study Classes On Friday

Twelve classes at the Highland avenue school participated in the flower show which took place at the school under the direction of Miss Mary Aiken, head teacher, and Miss Pearl Hutchison, teacher of nature study, Friday afternoon.

As a preliminary movement in the newly inaugurated nature study classes, the flower show was held. Every student who wished to enter, brought bouquets of flowers yesterday morning and again noon the entire room was filled to capacity. More flowers were brought by the pupils from grades 1 to 6 inclusive than vases could be found for. Possibly there were 500 vases and baskets of flowers in the room.

None of the flowers were bought. All were picked by the pupils at home and the display rivaled any that grown ups might have selected. When all of the flowers were arranged the judging was done by a committee composed of Miss Jean Jackson, Miss Alma Locke and Miss Mathilde Coley. Prizes were awarded to one person in each class. There was no prize awarded for the best bouquet in the entire group on account of the wide variation in the ages of the children.

In the display every sort of flower imaginable. There were astors, geraniums, dahlias, delphiniums, gladioli, daisies and roses. There was every sort of flower that is known in the section of the country on display.

Winners in the flower show were:

One A, Jack Elliot; 1B, Audrey Bridenbaugh; 2A, Peggy Craig; 3A, Dorothy Porter; 3B, Margie Wilkins; 4A, Jean Ramsey; 5A, Earnest Stitzinger; 5A, Helen Latina; 5B, Earnest Stitzinger; 6A, Luella McBride; and 6B, Ruth Sprout.

Honor Retired Mill Worker

Richard Richards Is Guest Of Honor At Reception Friday Evening

COMPLETES 54 YEARS AS TIN WORKER

Friends and neighbors on the south side paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Richards, East Long avenue, Friday evening when a farewell was held in Central Christian church. The affair was one of dual interest for not only was it a farewell for the two, but it was also a public recognition of Mr. Richards' long record with the American Sheet & Tin Plate company.

There was a delightful air of informality about the whole evening. There was a spontaneity about it that bespoke genuine friendship and real regard for the two honor guests. While the majority of the crowd were members of the Central Christian church, the affair was not limited to the church, many friends outside the church roll being present.

Rev. Porter in Charge.

Rev. Jesse Porter, pastor of the Central Christian church, was the chairman of the evening and at 7:45 called it to order. Following a song by the crowd and prayer by Rev. Porter, the program of the evening was presented. Short addresses were made by Rev. Porter, Albert Bauman, Thomas Phelps, Mrs Ed Walls and Bart Richards. Clancy Sperry played a piano solo, William Porter and Harold Bauman presented an instrumental duet. Another instrumental duet was presented by A. Kirker and Clarence Fry. Vocal solos were presented by Arthur Hulbert, Dave Lewis, Sam Lewis and J. A. Roberts. Clancy Sperry was heard in a piano solo.

At the close of the program Mrs. Richard Irwin presented Mrs. Richards with a traveling bag, the gift of the Women's class of the church, and Sam McMillan presented Mr. Richards with a traveling bag as the gift of the Men's class. Mr. Richards responded briefly.

Following the exercises in the auditorium of the church the crowd adjourned to the basement where a lunch was served. The lunch was the conclusion of a happy evening, although the sociability was somewhat marred by the thought that these two veterans of the church were leaving.

Retired Tin Worker.

Mr. Richards was recently retired by the American Sheet & Tin Plate company after a continuous service record of 33 years with the company. For 54 years he has been a tin plate pickler and has done no other work since he was a boy of 12 years.

With this splendid record back of him he now intends to take a well earned vacation and with his wife will leave by automobile on Monday, September 17, for Los Angeles, Cal., where he will make his future home.

A FRACTION of an inch in a mile survey might cause land litigation that would result in the ruination of business and the expenditure of untold money.

The deviation by a ten-thousandth of a grain of certain drugs might cause untold misery and death.

The civil engineer is called "the man who must always be right." The druggist is the man who must absolutely be right; as right as the doctor. Correctness is not a detail of the drug business—it is the drug business in its entirety. The druggist must be as minutely correct as the trusted physician, and if either deviates from positive accuracy others must suffer.

divorce. She came to Tyrrell's defense during the five-day trial.

Tyrrell, who saw his twenty-five year legal career blasted by the verdict, started slightly when the verdict was read, but aside from that showed no emotion. His wife, a lifelong friend of Mrs. Clark, started forward to console him, but was waved back by court attaches.

Although sentence will not be pronounced until later, the law provides for a ten to twenty year sentence according to the district attorney's office.

Clark was shot to death in the auditorium of the Munhall church on May 13—Mother's Day. Tyrrell, who claimed the man had threatened his life, claimed that he thought a pair of glasses Clark held in his hand was a weapon. He fired point blank.

H. Nelson Jackson of Vermont and Casey M. Jones of West Virginia.

The league has begun organizing in all states for the purpose of getting veterans to vote and to vote for the Republican ticket.

The nominee meanwhile declined comment for about the fifth time on the letters written him by former Senator C. Hansbrough, now heading the Smith independent league in South Dakota, asking for a repudiation of "whispered" attacks on Governor Smith. On one occasion Hoover said he was paying no attention to the "whispers", as they were current in every Presidential campaign.

Going to New Jersey

When newspapermen pressed the Hoover headquarters for a reply, George Akerson, the nominee's secretary, issued this statement: "Mr. Hansbrough's first letter and his second were given to the press before Mr. Hoover even had a chance to read them. This is a discourteous practice which Mr. Hoover himself never indulges in. He refused to pay attention to such communications when they are handled in that way. That is not the way gentlemen do things."

Some of Hoover's advisers declared it would not be proper for Hoover to speak about the whispers. They maintained he was attacked in the whispering campaign just as much as Smith has been. They argued that by remaining silent he was following the precedent established by the late President Harding and other Republican nominees in the past. Finally they pointed to Work's denunciation of all whispers as having been issued with and by Hoovers' approval.

The nominee will rest Sunday in anticipation of his visit to New Jersey Monday and Tuesday.

Hoover will deliver his labor address Monday night at Newark. Afterwards he will motor to Menlo Park to spend the night with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison. On Tuesday morning he will visit the Newark municipal airport and then motor through northern New Jersey. He will attend a luncheon by Senator Walter E. Edge in Newark, later motoring through Princeton and Elizabeth to Trenton, where he will board his train for Washington.

American Champion 6 Up Over Tom Perkins Of England At End Of 18 Hiles

(International News Service)

BRAE BURN COUNTRY CLUB, WEST NEWTON, Mass., Sept 15. — Bobby Jones virtually assured himself of his fourth national amateur golf title in the last five years by taking a lead of 6 up over Tom Perkins, British champion, at the end of the first 18 holes of the final round today.

Exclusive of the first hole, where Jones hadn't quite found the range yet, and the last four holes, which were halved, Perkins simply didn't belong in the same round with Jones, twice being forced to pick up and taking a pair of 6's on two other holes.

Jones' morning medal round was a 72, thirty-seven out, including a 6 on the first hole, and thirty-five, back, two under par for this nine. This display on the last nine included six pars and birdies on the tenth, eleventh and thirteenth.

"POLITICAL INFORMATION FOR WOMEN"

Don't fail to register Tuesday, September 18.

The first day is past, something may intervene to make it impossible for you to qualify on the last registration day.

QUALIFY TUESDAY

Take your state or county tax receipt with you.

With the unusual interest that prevails in the candidates and issues this year, it would seem hardly necessary to urge women to register. Yet as election day draws near and interest increases many women find themselves disfranchised because they have failed to register.

If we are thinking women we have to be voting citizens—to take sides with the opinion which we believe ought to prevail.

The last day when candidates nominated at the primary election may withdraw from nomination is Monday, September 17.

Fourteen amendments to the state constitution to be voted on by the people of Pennsylvania at the general election Tuesday, November 6, 1928, will be explained in brief for the benefit of busy women from time to time.

Political information for women will be presented in a direct and simple manner.

Seventh Ward Boy Resumes Position On State's Team

R. Wallace Brewster Returns To Penn State; Known As Debator

R. Wallace Brewster of the Seventh ward, senior at the Pennsylvania State College and outstanding debator there, has returned to the Nittany institution where he began his fourth year of collegiate training with the opening of college on Wednesday. He is enrolled in the pre-legal course and expects to continue his studies at a law school next year.

The local lad has been one of the pillars of the debating squad at Penn State ever since his matriculation there in the autumn of 1924. As a freshman he was a member of the debating team and competed against the first year teams of a number of eastern colleges and universities. Continuing his oratorical work during the second year, he was immediately awarded a place on the varsity squad by John H. Frizzell, coach of the team. Last spring Brewster was one of the four debators representing the Blue and White on a forensic tour of New England institutions. It is expected that he will continue his activity as a debator during the present academic year.

In addition to his forensic endeavor the Mahoningtown boy has taken an active part in musical affairs at Penn State. During his sophomore year he played as a member of the Blue Band, widely recognized as one of the best collegiate musical organizations in the country. Last year he was with the College orchestra and the Penn State Players orchestra, the latter furnishing the music for productions staged by the college dramatists.

Brewster is a member of Omega Epsilon, local social fraternty, Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary forensic society and Phi Mu Alpha, national honorary musical organization.

Few Foreign Women Become Naturalized

Only Six Of 130 Will Receive Papers In Mercer During September

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 15.—Only a fractional percentage of the foreign women in this county become naturalized in comparison to the men.

In an age when both sexes are on an equal franchise basis this is unusual, it is pointed out. Of the 130 aliens that are listed for naturalization at the September term of court on the dates of September 24, 25, 26, only six of the numbers are women.

The law provides that any alien woman marrying a naturalized citizen if he was naturalized prior to 1922 the woman obtains citizenship by virtue of this act.

Marriage to any alien after this year means that the woman must be naturalized just the same as the man.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

The boys over around the corner of Washington and Beaver street seem to have a new sport. The game is played something like the old game of "Duck on Davy" except that apples or tomatoes are used instead of rocks and automobile drivers are the objects.

The idea seems to be to clip a driver on the chin as he goes by. Hitting a driver counts a perfect bull's eye, while if the window is up and the glass breaks that would probably be 98 per cent. Missing the window and hitting the body of the car counts as a miss in balk, apparently.

It's a nice sport, something like throwing eggs into an electric fan. The only difficulty is that some evening a driver is going to catch one of the apple heavers and what will happen on Beaver street will be just too bad.

One of the late newsies won a straw hat Friday evening around 11:30. It happened at the corner of Washington and Mercer streets. A passing automobile contained some lads who apparently believed in living up to the dictates of fashion and decided that now was the time for all good men to come to the aid of felt hats. Ergo, a straw sailor was tossed out of the window.

One car hit the brim, another just missed the crown and after several narrow escapes, traffic cleared. The newsy stepped out and picked up the hat and now an older brother of an uncle or father will have a classy hay helmet to start next season with.

All of which brings up the unpleasant reminder that this is the day when straw hats are babooed. Its the open season for hat wreckers and if you happen to get yours caved in, remember that it's just one of the boys getting playful. Just an old Scandinavian prank.

All that rain we had in June seems to be sadly missed now. Twenty-one days in June were rainy, and thus far in September there hasn't been enough rain to dampen a blotter. All of which is no complaint for this weather is about as nearly perfect as anything you could want.

All I'm hoping is that it keeps up next week Having to serve on that jury in Erie is enough without any rainy weather to help things along.

Conventions seems to have let up for a bit, the banquet season is hardly in full bloom yet, baseball is waning, but the saving grace of it all is that football is just around the corner.

Gangland Homes Modest Houses

Homes Of "Racketeers" In Chicago Are Bungalows In Suburbs

LATIN "BAD MEN" LIKE HOME LIFE

By IONE QUINBY
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Many readers send in queries as to what a Chicago gangster's home is like. Gangland's domiciles have been variously pictured as palatial residences, ornate in structure and displaying the pretentious vulgarities of the newly rich; or deluxe apartments fitted up with special elevators leading to underground passages, or buildings camouflaged as poverty stricken tenements on the outside, but luxurious within.

Contrary to popular opinion and film stories, gangland homes are more often than not modest bungalows of the type suburbanites effect, set on the outskirts of the city where the air is clear and healthy, or in nearby suburbs where the environment is good and the roads wide. Invariably these homes have children in them. Italian gangsters, in particular, crave family life and usually lead happy domestic lives until some competitor's bullets cut them off. Italians are domestic loving as a rule, and records show few divorces for people of this nationality, notwithstanding their Latin temperament. Gangsters are not any exception.

One of the representative gangland homes which I have been in is that of Tony Lombardo, recently murdered in the Loop. The Lombardo home closely resembles many other west-side bungalows on quiet, respectable Austin avenue, and its chief characteristics as you approach it are its neat brick lines, the flower garden at one side, the child's tricycle on the front porch and the dainty curtains at the windows.

It is a comfortable interior designed for happy companionship and home life. There is a tasteful but not ornate rug, a large davenport, the family dining table with its six chairs and the tea table beside it, two pretty bedrooms and a kitchen with a white stove and green kitchen utensils. I sat in a large, red leather chair, where Tony told bedtime stories to his two youngsters, Rosie and Sammy, which may sound incongruous for a man who is said to have ordered a dozen killings before his own end came, but which is a real picture nevertheless of the home life of a typical Italian gangster.

The Italian gangster is usually a devoted father, wanting his bambinos to have better things than he had. Invariably his own childhood was a stifled, poverty stricken caricature of childhood, boasting mainly rags and gnawing hunger, hot tenement nights when he was forced to sleep on the sidewalk to get air, and wintry nights without fuel. One of the passions of his life is to give his own children a fine start in life. He gets this power when he becomes high up in the bootleg world and he clings to it, although it means death for him sooner or later and an expensive funeral.

There is a lodge chapter in Chicago whose members haven't a particle of excuse for forgetting their telephone number and exchange. It is a west-side chapter of the Knights of Columbus, and the telephone is Columbus 1492.

If smoking doesn't affect the brain, how do you account for the chap who holds forth in the smoker?

Local Traffic Men Control 1000 Autos

Each Officer In New Castle Is Responsible For 1,000 Cars

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington News Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 15.—Each traffic officer of New Castle is responsible for the control of 1,000 motor vehicles today as compared with 500 for each officer ten years ago, according to the figures of a survey made public by the American Automobile association.

A survey of 50 cities in the country ranging from 50,000 to 3,000,000 population shows car registration in the cities covered by the study increases 326 per cent as compared with an increase of 83 per cent in the number of traffic officers in the past ten years.

"One conclusion stands out," says the national motoring body. "It is perfectly apparent that the responsibility of the average traffic officer has greatly increased in recent years. It is true, of course, that mechanical control has to some extent acted as a substitute for personnel, but this has been largely offset by the increased complexity of traffic regulations.

"More traffic personnel may be necessary in the interest of law enforcement, but what is needed above all is the simplification of driving conditions. This can be accomplished through universal adoption of the uniform municipal traffic ordinance."

It is an axiom of politics that a party divided against itself cannot win. But before even starting out to win the Democratic candidates and management have split the organization on about every issue on which there was a chance to split it. — The Uniontown Morning Herald.

Requests Report From Republicans On Their Activity

Work Asks Local Chairman To Forwafd His Report To State Officials

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington News Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 15.—Complete and detailed reports covering every form of activity in Lawrence county in behalf of the presidential ticket have been asked for by Chairman Hubert Work of the Republican national committee.

Chairman Work desires such reports to supplement the advices received regularly from National Committeeman W. W. Atterbury and Committeewoman Mrs. Worthington Scranton.

Mr. Work plans to have the reports concerning Lawrence county forwarded to him through the county and state Republican chairmen. He wishes reports covering all club and other political maneuvers in Lawrence county and their apparent results; the issues peculiarly dominant in the county; number of speakers active and other such comment pertinent to the progress of the state and national campaign.

Mr. Work has asked that the county chairman of Lawrence forward his reports to the state chairman of Pennsylvania who will relay such advices directly to national headquarters. The reports will be made public from time to time in Washington, Chairman Work states.

Plans Low Waves For Local Plants

Community Broadcasting Possible Under Commissioner's New Plan

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington News Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept., 15.—Radio fans of New Castle will be able to tune in programs of nearby low wave-length stations at one end of the dial and to listen in on the features of the national high wave-length broadcasting stations at the other end of the dial, according to the new allocation plan outlined by federal radio commissioner O. H. Caldwell.

"My trips of inspection have convinced me that the usefulness of every home receiver would be expanded in a new dimension if it could pick up at one end of the dial local or neighborhood broadcasting from 10 to 50 watt broadcasters in the community," Commissioner Caldwell states.

"Of course such local offerings must be kept widely-separated from the great regional and national programs which are and always will be the backbone of radio. But without interfering with out present splendid national services we can easily find room for hundreds of such 'locals' for all the time they are to be on the air for the broadcasting of local events and programs usually are not acceptable as program material by general broadcasters.

"Such a service to hundreds of local communities can be provided through the development of the new allocation plan. And through the new assignments, improved positions on the dials have been provided these 'locals', by advancing numbers of them to higher positions where they can be comfortably listened to by even the more obsolete small-town receiving sets.

"After months of study of the broadcasting situation I am convinced that the allocation now promulgated by the commission provides the foundation for the fullest possible development of radio service to all classes of listeners."

SPECTACULAR SUCCESS
is proving it "Chief of the Sixes"
a Successful Six now winning Even Greater Success
In the tremendous success which Pontiac Six is enjoying . . . in the spectacular sales which have placed more than 350,000 Pontiacs on the road within thirty-two months of its introduction—in these impressive facts is ample reason for designating this great General Motors car "Chief of the Sixes".
Never has any new car risen so rapidly in the estimation of motor car buyers, for during the first six months of 1928, over 136,000 Pontiacs were sold—the largest volume ever achieved by any car in the first half of its third year in production!
This overwhelming public endorsement and public approval tells more of what Pontiac provides for $745 than even the most complete listing of such features as Fisher bodies, 186 cu. in. engine, the G-M-R cylinder head, cross-flow radiator, foot-controlled headlights, coincidental lock etc., etc.! Come in for a ride today and learn for yourself why Pontiac Six sales continue their sensational upward sweep!

Driving safety at night is assured by Pontiac's foot-controlled tilting-beam headlights—a feature found on no other six of Pontiac's price.

Post Cards From Europe
by William Ivy

PARIS, Sept. 15—The annual meeting of the International Students Union, held this year in Paris, broke up in a row. First the Italians, 400 strong, noisily quit the convention because some of them had been manhandled by the French police during a mild riot staged by anti-Facists at a football game. Next the German delegates withdrew in a huff because they didn't agree with the majority on a question of eligibility to membership.

The main purpose of this annual Congress of students from all parts of the world is, of course, to promote peace and better understanding among people. It proceeds from the old idea that the better we know ecah other, the better we get along together.

Perhaps it is time to subject that maxim to closer examination. Recent history has often shown enough that acquaintance does not always breed good relations. Sometimes neighbors get along better when they don't see too much of each other. At all events these miscellaneous international conventions very frequently cause international incidents by provoking clashes between small hot-headed groups—they exist in every country—which for the general good would do better to stay at home.

Nobody quite understands just what the International Students Union represents. The status of a student in any land is a temporary one. People do not remain students all their lives as a normal thing, and it is hard to see what need they have for an international organization.

From earliest times it has been the privilege of youth to be impulsive and impatient. These qualities are valuable in their place, but it would seem that they are not a suitable article for exportation.

Let students have their fun, but let it take place, so far as possible, on the home campus. That is the feeling that has spread in Europe as a result of the recent Paris congress.

Non-Stop Fliers Declare Storm As Cause Of Failure

Worst Storm In Years Of Flying Experience Encountered In Non-Stop Attempt

MORE ENTRANTS ARRIVE ON COAST

Art Goebel Disheartened By Failure, Will Make Effort To Break Own Record

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 15. — Two more of the airplanes which failed to remain aloft in the New York-to-Los Angeles non-stop race, were in this city today.

Lieut. Commander Jack Iseman, flying the Bellanca monoplane Columbia, arrived here late yesterday from Amarillo, Texas., where he was forced to land. Earlier in the day George Haldeman arrived here from Albuquerque, N. M.

Art Goebel, the first entrant to arrive here, was forced to land at Prescott, Ariz., Thursday, but he proceeded here after refueling.

Not a single plane entered in the race was able to finish the 3,000 mile trip without alighting.

Encounter Bad Storm

Both Iseman and Haldeman said they were aloft in the same storm which Goebel described as the worst he ever encountered in his flying experience.

One of the features of the National Air Races here yesterday was the performance of the "Baby Bullet," an entrant in the speed and efficiency contest for light planes.

This plane, built by E. D. Heath of Chicago, has a two-cylinder engine and a wing spread of 12 feet. The midget plane skipped around the course at the rate of 140 miles an hour and was in the hangar for the night before the last planes in the race had finished.

Disheartened but not discouraged, Art Goebel, who was forced down in the non-stop flight with victory in sight, declared today that he was prepared to make an attempt to shatter his own record on a non-stop flight from here to New York. He predicted he would be able to make the trip in 15 hours on his next attempt.

The accident occured near the intersection of Home and Mill streets about 4:00 o'clock when the boy was enroute home from school, crossing the street. Hussey's Fix Up Difference And Live Together

(International News Service)

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 15. —Dr. Virginia Hussey and her novelist husband, Lindlay M. Hussey, whom the woman physician asserted she had murdered with another woman a few weeks ago, have made up and will start life anew, it was disclosed today. Charges of non-support and misconduct against Hussey have been dropped.

Mrs. Hussey withdrew the charges when she appeared with her husband before a magistrate and the couple walked out of the courtroom arm in arm. Mrs. Grace Sauveur of Ambler, with whom the novelist was said to have been found after Mrs. Hussey had told police she had murdered them, sat opposite the couple in court and later left with her attorney.

Dr. Hussey was released recently from the Norristown State Hospital for the Insane where she had been confined for observation after telling the police of the "murder."

Girl Returns Home, Prevents Riot In Jugoslavian City

Peasants Of JugoSlavia Believe For Time Girl Is Victim Of Ritual Murder

(International News Service)

VIENNA, Sept. 15.—The return of a missing girl to a village near Novisad, Jugoslavia, today prevented possible violence to the Jewish residents of the village.

When the girl disappeared, a rumor immediately sprang up among the uneducated and superstitious peasants that she had been made a victim to a ritual murder in the Jewish synagogue.

Feeling against the Jews in the village ran high as the rumors spread from mouth to mouth. Officials found difficulty in restraining the peasants from violence and placed a guard around the Jewish quarter.

Then the girl returned, explaining that she had eloped.

Plans Announced By Methodist Conference For $150,000 Drive For Home

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 15.—Announcement of ministerial assignments for the Erie Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is expected over the week-end, with prospects that the list will be complete tonight.

Plans for a $150,000 drive for funds to support the Cribbs Memorial Home at Canneautville, and the Smith Children's Home at Sheffield are underway at the annual conference, with the week of February 10, 1929 designated as the dates for the appeal to the Methodist congregations in the Erie conference.

The committee in charge of the drive plans to make an appeal for subscriptions calling for semi-annual payments for a period of three years.

Search California For Man And Wife Strangely Missing

Elderly Couple Leave Bakersfield On Motoring Trip, Are Unheard From

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 15.—The search for Albert La Huis, retired Michigan banker, and his wife, who disappeared August 18 from Bakersfield, Cal., became more intensive today with the arrival of relatives from the East who have gone to Bakersfield to aid detectives.

C. L. Huis, son of the couple, arrived here from Miami, Fla., yesterday. H. S. Coith of Cincinnati, a son-in-law, was with him. They announced they would stay until the mysterious disappearance of the couple is solved.

The elderly couple were last seen driving away from Bakersfield with a man who is said to have formerly lived at La Jolla, Cal. La Huis, according to Richard Goodspeed, his attorney, invested $75,000 in oil wells and leases which never existed. He asserted the La Jolla man received the money.

Fat Men Do Blush; Must Be Innocent

It is said that you blush if you're innocent. Then there must be one innocent fat man in the city.

This morning down at the Y. M. C. A. a man of exceptional avoirdupois stepped up to the desk and with a blush asked in a semi-whisper just how you went about to enter the fat men's class and if there was still room to enter.

"Sure," replied Kirker, "glad to have you." The blush still remained, but the man seemed a little bit more at ease. He wrote down his name and hurried out of the office.

It was possibly a little hard for him for as it happened, there were several standing near the desk and the man was visibly embarrassed.

The fat men's class is filling up, is the statement issued by the Y. W. C A. officials who are starting the class. Many men have slipped into the room in the last few days and silently and blushingly written down their names. Some are of the heavier stock, states Walter Kirker, physical director, while others are of the smaller type who are "just developing."

Registration closes October 1, and the classes for the fat men will begin immediately after that date.

One of the little incongruities of life is that the people who can afford all of those labor-saving devices could also pay for the labor.

Picking Presidents

1792: Unanimous For Washington

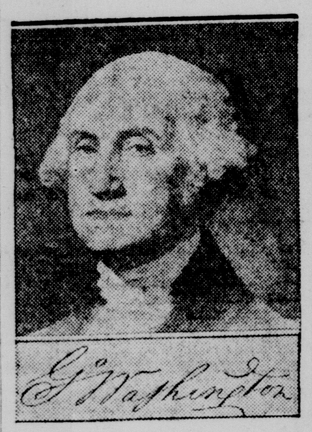

By CHARLES L. MULLIGAN

Written for Central Press and New Castle News

By the time the newly-born nation was ready for its second presidential election it boasted two political parties. These were the Federalists, who followed the centralization ideas of Alexander Hamilton, and the Anti-Federalists, or Republicans, forerunners of the present Democratic party, whose leader was Thomas Jefferson.

But this division did not in any way affect President Washington. Both Jefferson and Hamilton were in his original cabinet, both knew the country wished to keep Washington at the helm as long as he wanted to stay there, and Washington, who in the constitutional convention had smoothed over with words or diplomacy bitter factionalism on the subject of federal authority, had not seriously antagonized either party.

So the second election, like the first, was a mere going through the motions of naming George Washington.

Again the second choice of the electors was to be the vice president. The Federalists supported John Adams, who had been elected in 1789, and the Republicans had Governor George Clinton, of New York, for a candidate.

The number of electors had been increased to 135, chosen in some states by popular vote and in others by the legislatures. Three electors did not vote. This was the result:

George Washington, Virginia, 132 votes (unanimously re-elected president).

John Adams, Massachusettes, 77 (elected vice-president).

George Clinton, New York, 50.

Thomas Jefferson, Virginia, 4.

Aaron Burr, New York, 1.

(This is the second of a series of 35 digests of presidential campaigns. The third will be: "1796—First Contest Sharp One; Adams-Jefferson.")

Four Arrested At Bridge Street Home

Heavy Fines Are Imposed By Mayor William A. Gillespie

As a result of numerous complaints received by Police Woman Mrs. Minnie McKibben concerning the alleged soliciting of men by women at the Tinsley Jordan home, Officer Emery watched the place Thursday night and saw Gertrude Jones, negress, call a white man into the Jordan home, where she was at the time. The officer managed to get into the house and found Miss Jones and the white man in a bedroom. They were arrested and sent to the police station.

Later Policewoman Mrs. McKibben and Officer Kennedy arrested Jordan and Edna Watson, a colored girl, at the home of Della Hall, rear 818 Moravia street.

This morning Jordan and the girls denied that this home had been used for the purpose mentioned. The white man testified that the Jones girl had invited him into the Jordan home.

Mayor Gillespie fined Jordan as keeper of a disorderly house and the two girls as inmates of a disorderly house the sum of $25 each. The white man was released upon the payment of a fine of $5.

As the light turned green and Mr. Waller started his car, the boy fell from the running board, but was apparently uninjured.

Ingersoll Fortune To Aid Youths In Gaining Education

Late Robrt H. Ingersoll Leaves Residuary Of Estate For Foundation Puspose

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The residuary estate of the late Robert H. Ingersoll, creator of the dollar watch, will be used to form the "Robert and Roberta Ingersoll foundation" here "To aid worthy boys in obtaining a college, university or professional education," according to the terms of the millionaire's will on file here today in surrogate court.

The value of the estate is not known and Frederick Leubuscher, one of the executors, said it will total between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

Seven relatives of Ingersoll will share in real estate in Lansing, Mich., an orange grove in Florida and other land in Idaho which the executors are empowered to establish the foundation.

Provision is made for the foundation in a codicil to the will which originally provided for a hospital at Greenville, Mich., Ingersoll's birthplace, in a memory of his wife. She committee suicide here in 1926. Ingersoll died September 5, 1927, at Denver.

tional payroll robberies were staged by the gang, among them the famous $104,000 holdup near Millenaur, Pa., when a payroll car was dynamited.

Jaworski was later captured and convicted. Thirteen months ago, he and Vasbinder, both under sentence for first degree murder, shot their way out of the Allegheny County jail in Pittsburgh, and remained at large until Thursday. Jaworski's brother, Sam, is now in the same prison, charged with smuggling guns to his brother for the jail break.

Gang In Cleveland

The survivors of his gang had gathered here, Jaworski says, and were preparing to go to Pittsburgh with machine guns and rifles to "shoot Sam out of jail," when he was captured.

Friction developed between local authorities and Allegheny County officials last night. The Allegheny officers have already consented to discontinue their efforts to take Jaworski back to Pennsylvania, they will allow him to go to trial here. In return, Prosecutor Edward Stanton, of Cleveland, has tacitly agreed that if the gunman is not convicted and sentenced to the electric chair after his trial here, he will not attempt to prevent his return to Pennsylvania.

Last night, assistant district Andrew Park, of Allegheny County, asked Police Chief Jacob Graul for permission to question Jaworski about the Mollenaur robbery. Graul replied that in his opinion the Pennsylvania officials "didn't get much information from Jaworski" when they had him. He also criticized them for failing to take photographs and bertillon records of Vasbinder, a convicted murderer.

Officials Argue

"I don't particularly like your attitude towards us," Park said.

"Safety Director Ed Barry entered the dispute at this point.

"If you people don't like our attitude then none of you are going to see him," Barry asserted. "We don't need any help from Allegheny County."

After his speedy indictment yesterday, Jaworski was to be arraigned, in the hospital, by Judge Walter McMahon, today. If he pleads not guilty to the charge of "murdering a policeman, "his trial date will be set at about October 15, Judge McMahon said.

Four employes of the Detroit News came here yesterday in an attempt to identify Jaworski in connection with the News payroll holdup, failed to recognize him. Jaworski first admitted, then denied participation in this robbery.

When told that his sister, Mrs. Lucille Logan, of Detroit, was coming here to see him Jaworski did not seem particularly pleased. He said he would rather not be bothered by visits from relatives.

Reward Unclaimed

John Zavworsky, an old acquaintance of Jaworski's when they both lived in Butler, Pa., who recognized him in a little East side restaurant Thursday and telephoned police, has made no effort to claim the $5,000 reward offered for his capture. Chief Graul says he thinks Zavworsky is entitled to the reward.

A similar reward has been offered for Vasbinder's capture. Police have received a number of "tips" concerning his whereabouts, but all have proved fruitless. Jaworski first said Vasbinder was the man who fled the restaurant when the gun battle started, Thursday. Later he denied this. Police believe, however, that Vasbinder has been in the city and they are attempting to find the place where he and Jaworski lived.

Jaworski's condition was reported unchanged today. Patrolman Effinger is recovering, while Benjamin Majstrek, the bystander, was struck by one of Jaworski's bullets, intended for a policeman, is still in critical condition. Patrolman Wieczorek's funeral is to be held Tuesday.

No. 14.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article fifteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by adding thereto a new section to be known as section four thereof.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:

Section 4. The General Assembly is hereby authorized to provide for the consolidation of the county, poor districts, cities, boroughs and townships of the county of Allegheny, and the offices thereof, into a consolidated city and county, with the constitutional and legal capacity of a municipal corporation, to be known as the City of Pittsburgh, and to provide for a charter for its government. The said charter shall be submitted to the electors of said county at a special election to be provided for therein. If the majority of the electors voting thereon, in the county as a whole, and at least two-thirds of the electors voting thereon in each of a majority of the cities, boroughs and townships thereof, vote in the affirmative, the act shall take effect for the whole county. If rejected, the said charter may be resubmitted to the electors in original, new or modified form, at any subsequent election until adopted.

It shall be competent, subject to the police power of the State, for the Legislature to provide in said charter:

1. For the exercise, by the consolidated city, of all the powers and duties vested in the county of Allegheny, and the poor districts thereof, and such other powers appropriate to a municipality as may be specified therein, except such powers as are specifically reserved by this section to the municipal divisions herein provided for.

2. For the election, by the people of the consolidated city, of a board of commissioners, the number to be fixed by the charter, in lieu of present county commissioners, which board shall be vested all the powers of the consolidated city and county, except as otherwise provided in the charter.

3. For the organization of a government for the consolidated city and county, and for the election or appointment of the constitutional and other necessary officers thereof, and for their powers and duties.

4. For the organization of all courts, other than those of record in the consolidated city, and for the procedure thereof, and for the appointment of judges and officers thereof, which courts shall exercise the jurisdiction, powers and duties of the magistrates, aldermen and justices of the peace, and such other powers as may be conferred by law.

5. For the transfer to the consolidated city of the property and indebtedness of the county of Allegheny, and the poor districts thereof, and of such property and indebtedness of the cities, boroughs and townships thereof as relate to the powers and duties of said consolidated city, and to provide for an equitable adjustment and payment of such indebtedness, and for this purpose any taxation therein shall be uniform taxation within the meaning and intent of other provisions of this Constitution.

6. For the assessment of property for taxation, the levying and collection of taxes, and the payment of the cost of any public improvement, in whole or in part, by special assessment upon abutting and nonabutting property materially benefitted thereby, and, for this purpose, real estate so charged shall be classified as urban, suburban, and rural, and the assessments made in accordance with such classifications.

7. For the creation, by the board of commissioners, of districts for the purpose of regulating the location, height, area, bulk and use of buildings and premises.

8. For the creation, by the board of commissioners, of special districts for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, maintaining, operating or contracting for any public property, work, improvement, utility or service, not for the exclusive benefit of any one municipal division, and for the payment of the costs and maintenance of such property, work, improvement, utility or service, there may be special taxes levied throughout such special districts respectively, separate and apart from the general city tax.

Provided, however, That it is the intent of this section that substantial powers be reserved to the cities, boroughs and townships situated in Allegheny County. To this end the charter shall provide for the continued existence of the said cities, boroughs and townships, as municipal divisions of the consolidated city, under their present names and forms of government, subject to the laws provided for government of municipalities of their respective forms and classes, except as provided in the charter, and with their present boundaries, provided that the City of Pittsburgh may be designated by a term other than city and may be divided into two or more municipal divisions, and that any two or more municipal divisions of the consolidated city may, with the consent of a majority of the electors voting thereon in each of such divisions at any general or special election, be united to form a single municipal division.

The said municipal divisions shall have and continue to possess the following powers:

1. The constitutional and legal capacity of municipal corporations, except as limited in the charter.

2. The power to lay and collect taxes and to incur indebtedness, subject to the limitations which are or may be imposed by law upon cities, boroughs or townships of corresponding classification, for the purpose of carrying out any lawful power of said divisions.

3. The power to acquire, own, construct, maintain, operate or contract for all kinds of public property, works, improvements, utilities or services, which shall be within the municipal division, and principally for the use and benefit of the inhabitants thereof, provided this power shall not be taken to include the construction and maintenance of through-traffic streets and bridges, tunnels, subways and appurtenances thereof, nor main or trunk lines for sewer, power and water service, running through more than one municipal division, and designated as such by the board of commissioners.

4. The power to maintain a local police force, and local fire department, with the necessary buildings, appurtenances and equipment therefor, which may be supplemental to the police force and fire department of the consolidated city.

5. The power to establish a limitation of indebtedness for the consolidated city and the municipal divisions therof, provided that the total of the indebtedness of the consolidated city and the municipal divisions thereof shall not, in the aggregate, exceed the limits of the total indebtedness allowed by the Constitution to the county and to the separate municipalities.

6. All other powers not specifically granted by the charter to the consolidate city: Provided, however, That a municipal division may surrender, by majority vote of the electors voting theron at any general or special election, any of its powers to the consolidated city, subject to the acceptance thereof by the board of commissioners.

The Story Of Our War With Spain
The Attack On San Juan Hill (Concluded)

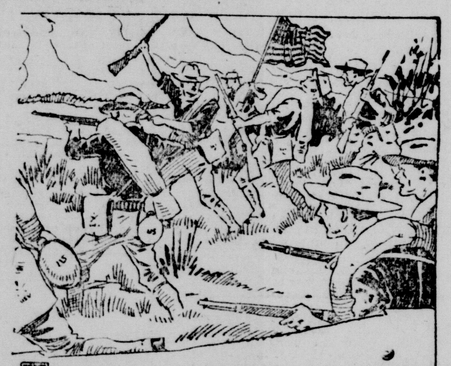

AFTER FORDING THE RIVER, THE AMERICANS LAY IN WHATEVER SHELTER THEY COULD FIND AT THE FOOT OF SAN JUAN HILL, WHILE THE MAUSER BULLETS OF THE SPANIARDS DRONED OVER THEIR HEADS. OUR MEN SUFFERED WITH THE HEAT AND WERE IMPATIENT TO ADVANCE.

AT LAST CAME THE WELCOME COMMAND TO CHARGE, AND WITH RINGING CHEERS REGULARS AND VOLUNTEERS BEGAN THEIR PERILOUS ADVANCE. IT WAS 600 YARDS TO THE TOP, EXPOSED THE WHOLE WAY TO THE MURDEROUS FIRE OF THE ENEMY, BUT THE LINE OF BLUE AND KHAKI NEVER FALTERED.

THE AMERICANS DASHED UP THAT BULLET-SWEPT SLOPE, FIRING AS THEY WENT AND CHEERING ONE ANOTHER ON. IT WAS A SEVERE TEST FOR THE VOLUNTEERS, MANY OF THEM MERE BOYS AND NEARLY ALL OF THEM NEW RECRUITS, WHO A FEW MONTHS BEFORE HAD BEEN PEACEFULLY ENGAGED IN CIVILIAN OCCUPATIONS.

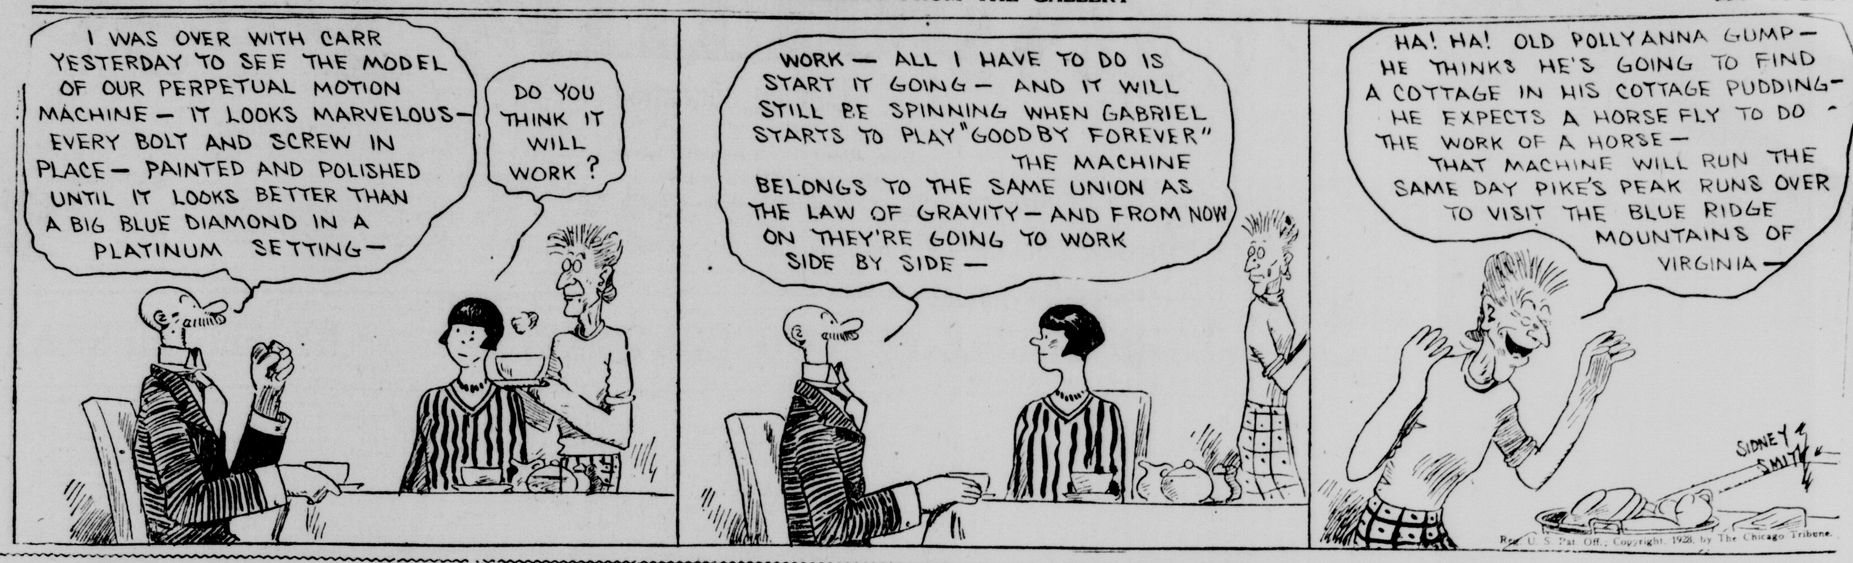

BY 1:30 P. M. THE AMERICANS HAD FOUGHT THEIR WAY TO THE CREST OF THE HILL. THE SPANIARDS, AFTER A BRIEF RESISTANCE, WERE DRIVEN FROM THEIR ENTRENCHMENTS, AND RETREATED FROM THE HILL TO AN INNER LINE OF DEFENSE.

Rocco Wins Decision; Firpo Fights Monday

Friedman Loses In Ten Rounds

Rocco Forces Fight And Lands Most Damaging Punches

TWO KNOCKOUTS FEATURE CARD

By ED. FRITZ

Emmett Rocco, tarzan of the Connoquenessing, today holds a 10-round decision over Al Friedman of Boston, having been awarded a unanimous decision last night at Centennial field by Judges Tom Blake, Chauncey Davis and Referee Joe Keally.

Rocco showed some effects of his lay-off, which was to be expected, but there was no time during the long, gruelling grind that he did not carry the pace or fail to land the most punishing punches, but Friedman flashed a left hand and a pair of fast feet that kept him from a kayo.

When the fans arrived at the field they found that the ring was pitched in the middle of the diamond and that the grandstand had been illuminated. Seats had been pitched around the roped square and when the bell rang 2,000 fans were ready for the fight.

Rocco Aggressive

Emmett, eager to fight, pounced across the ring as soon as the gong sounded and the style of fighting to be seen was made evident immediately. With Rocco on the aggressive Friedman poked out a long left to the face and kept circling the Tarzan.

Rocco tried to get close to work on Friedman's jaw or stomach, but invariably the rangy boy from Boston tied him up in the clinches, but there were times when Friedman's head bobbed backward from devastating short hooks; likewise Rocco's from left jabs.

Emmett tried desperately to land a right to the jaw, but it skimmed over Friedman's head many times, and fearful that he might be beaten should he make a right-hand lead, Friedman contented himself with a long left to the face or short chops at close quarters and fought cautiously.

Friedman Takes Seventh

In the sixth round, which was one of Emmett's best, they slugged and Friedman could not get away from Rocco, who put a heavy right to the jaw and body. The lights went out and it may have been a break for Friedman. When they came back on fighting was resumed.

Friedman worked a left jab in the seventh and it was Rocco's worst round, as the Boston boy, clever for a big fellow, forced him to miss and blocked most of his other leads. In the eighth they fought toe-to-toe and the round was even.

The ninth found the heavyweights battling fast and furiously and Emmett refused to back up and it was also voted a good even round, but in the tenth Rocco tried desperately to finish Friedman, but could not catch Friedman, who kept bouncing around the ring.

Two Knockouts

For heavyweights it was a fast fight. Friedman did not use his right hand, according to his seconds, because it was hurt early in the fight. Some of the fans thought a draw would have been a good decision, but most of them favored Rocco.

Eddie Weygant had a tough assignment in his comeback, as Jimmy Zill wouldn't fight and couldn't fight. He acted more like a clown and while the decision was called a draw. Weygant deserved the award. The fight went six rounds.

Weygant tried to fight, wanted to fight, but at every opportunity Jimmy tied him up. In one round Referee Keally told Zill he had better fight or he would penalize him. Weygant carried the fighting and his showing is not a criterion of what he can do.

Joe Midway, the blonde puncher of this city, knocked out Jack Bolsch of Youngstown with a right to the stomach in the first round. Larni Carney of Fombell was outpointed in four fast rounds by Bud Bollender of Youngstown and Heinie Slate of New Castle kayoed Al Brown of Canton in four rounds.

Church Game Is Deadlocked 1-1

Presbyterians And Methodists Play Tie Game; Will Play Game Over Today

The Central Presbyterians and First Methodist team battled to a 1-1 deadlock last night at the Scotland Lane field. The game was halted in the fifth inning, due to darkness.

The Presbyterians and Methodists will battle again this afternoon at the Croton field at 2:30 o'clock for the championship of the second half of the league season. The winning team in this game today will play the Croton team immediately following the completion of the first game.

The game last night was very close in all innings and after both teams had shoved over a run in the first inning the scoring ceased.

Funkhouser and Battley formed the battery for the Presbyterians, with Baker and Hughes the battery for the Methodists.

Football Season Only Week Away

Week From Today New Castle High Football Team Plays Bellevue In Opener

LOCALS WILL BE IMPROVED TEAM

By "BUGS" WALTHER

One week from today—seven days to be exact—and young Mr. Football will be back for another few months of popularity. Next Saturday afternoon at Ben Franklin high stadium, the New Castle high school football team will battle Bellevue high in the curtain raiser.

With three weeks of intensive training already undertaken the red and black gridders will be in the "pink" when it comes time to test their mettle agianst some of the classiest high school teams in this section of the state.

Regulars Unknown.

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh has not even hinted just who will comprise the varsity in the first game, and it will not be known until perhaps the day before the contest just who will likely start in the regular posts. The material this year is the finest ever and it is some task to select a combination of 11 men.

The workouts to date have been rather light, but Bridenbaugh has promised a stiffer program for all of next week. "Bridie" hopes to have the team in mid-season form by the time the first game is due. Several scrimmages will be in order early next week. Nothing tests the mettle of the young gridder more than a tough scrimmage session.

Line Looks Good.

The line carries more weight this year and with the increased "beef" they have acquired the knack of charging low and swift. The work of the forward wall so far this season has been a pleasing feature. A good stolid defense is a big help to any team and New Castle high has "it."

The backfield worries are practically over, judging from the many combinations that Coach Bridenbaugh has tried out lately in the practices. With eight good ball-carriers available, many switches are expected in the first few games, until it can be determined just who is fit for the berths.

New Castle grid fans are due for a surprise next Saturday when Coach Bridenbaugh sends his 1928 warriors out on the greensward of Franklin field for the first time.

THE BATTLE OF TWO CONTINENTS — BY FEG MURRAY

North and South America will meet in mortal combat on September 22nd, when the Argentine battles the United States in a polo match at Meadowbrook, Long Island, in the first of two or three games for international supremacy. The two continents have been arrayed before. Remember when Firpo met Dempsey? And say, if this polo is going to be THAT kind of a party, here's one person who is not going to miss it.

The matches should be featured by the rivalry between North America's No. 2, Tommy Hitchcock, and South America's back, Louis Lacey, a Canadian-born resident of Buenos Aires. Both players are brilliant-riding, hard-hitting dare-devils, both were war heroes, and both are ten-goal polo-players.

Polo, which was introduced into England from India, was carried into the Argentine by English ranchers about 1883. In 1924 an Argentine team won the Olympic championship, and two years later came within one goal of winning the United States national title. The present South American team, composed of Kenny, Nelson, Miles, and Lacey, with the versatile Andrada as substitute, is older than the United States team, as yet unannounced just as well mounted (if their ponies ever get over their colds) and freely admitted to be the best team that ever came out of the pampas to challenge for the supremacy of the Americas. It is a much more dangerous foe than the British Army-in-India team which was so easily beaten last year by the United States "Big Four."

Led by the meteoric Lacey, attended by numerous picturesque gauches in their native costumes, the invaders are a colorful lot. At this writing, the South Americans have not played together as a unit on their own ponies since August 19th. The illness of these animals has caused a third postponement of the matches, which was the only sporting thing for the United States Polo Association to do under the circumstances even though it has hurt the gate receipts. Here's hoping the little crilloes snap out of their "sniffles" and that they are able to do their best by September 22nd. Maybe South America will at least knock North America "through the ropes," as it did on that memorable September night in 1923 at another Polo Grounds in New York.

Jockey Vindicated By Race Officials

Jockey E. C. Allen Given Clean Bill Of Health By Race Stewards

Names Of Hornsby And McGraw Mentioned Causes Landis To Investigate

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 15. — Arlington Race Track officials today ordered a sweeping investigation into the activities of tipsters here in an effort to unearth turf touts said to be responsible for the alleged Arlington betting scandal. The scandal involved the names of Jockey E. C. Allen, O. L. Foster, his contract employer, and two prominent National League baseball chieftains.

At a special meeting of the Arlington stewards last night Allen was completely vindicated of all complicity in the alleged tipster ring. The charges upon which the jockey was hailed before the turf tribunal were that he transmitted information on "fixed races" to persons high in baseball circles.

Hunt For Impostor

Immediately following the exoneration of Jockey Allen the Illinois Racing Association began a search for the man who impersonated him in the tipping deals and a young woman who posed as his wife.

Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Boston Braves and John McGraw, New York Giants chieftain, whose names were drawn into the investigation when Allen received a letter from the Illinois Bell Telephone company for long distance toll calls totaling $559, wired emphatic denials to Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball mogul, that they had never received racing tips from Allen.

In a letter from the telephone company it was stated that the calls were made during the months of June and July and that they were mostly to Hornsby and McGraw.

Investigators posing as Chicago business men located a tipster who is said to have been using Allen's name and learned that he had been living in a prominent Chicago hotel. Detective bureau officials declined to reveal the man's name.

Giants Threaten Cardinals Today

Four Straight Victories For Giants Put Them Near Top Of National Loop Race

YANKEES BATTLE ST. LOUIS BROWNS

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 15. — The National League race is now closer than the American. As a result of winning their forth straight doubleheader from the Braves yesterday, the Giants trail the Cardinals by only one game. The standing of the leaders:

Club	Won	Lost	P. C.	Games to play
St. Louis	84	55	.604	15
New York	83	56	.597	15
Chicago	82	58	.586	14

Eight straight victories for the Giants on four successive playing days is quite a mark for pennant contenders of the future to shoot at. On the heels of a slump in which they lost eight straight games, the New Yorkers went on a batting spree that raised the team batting average to .294, nine points above St. Louis.

Giants Face Vance

Today the Giants face Dazzy Vance, the Brooklyn ace, who has been trimming them consistently of late. The Cards play the Phillies twice and the Cubs have two games with the Braves.

In the American league the Yankees face the Browns and the Athletics invade Cleveland.

Fitzsimmons and Scott hurled the Giants to 6-2 and 5-1 victories over Boston yesterday. Bob Smith started both games for Boston and was knocked out twice.

Hybert Rated As One Of Best Punchers Prancing Before Public

ROMEO PACELLI TO BOX TOMMY THOMPSON

By ED. FRITZ

FIGHTERS may come and fighters may go, but there are none of them now prancing before the pugilistically inclined of western Pennsylvania or eastern Ohio who touts a more wicked wallop than Floyd Hybert, who battles Young Firpo, knockout kid of Louisville, before fistic inclined at Jolly Bowl Monday night, and many fans who have seen Floyd in action believe that he is the boy who is apt to stop Firpo, who has beaten every foe he has met in this city.

According to Bill Jolly, promoter and matchmaker, Hybert is an exceptionally strong puncher, aggressive and fearless fighter. In fact, he is one of the ilk that doesn't know what it means to step back, and as Firpo has been strutting through a row of fighters like water down a mountainside, a great fight is in prospect because Hybert will not retreat.

Recently Hybert, who was born in Ashtabula, went to Chicago and while there he fought two fights within two weeks, which shows that he must have displayed something unexpected. He walloped My Sullivan, a fistic idol of the Windy City, then turned around and smashed the aspirations of Johnny Gerardin. Another boy who took a good lacing is Wilson

Amateur Golf Crown Valued Prize Today, Jones-Perkins Battle

Bobby Jones And Thomas P. Perkins, British Champion, Finalists In Tourney

Great Golf Match Expected By Thousands Who Will Follow Players Today

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

WEST NEWTON, Mass., Sept. 15.—Good old, merry old, jolly old England was on the verge of flouting the tradition of seventeen long years today, provided a man meeting Bobby Jones over 36 holes of golf can be said to be on the verge of anything except personal disaster. But not Thomas P. Perkins, cold and seemingly impersonal with the deceptive chill so true to British type. Defeat, maybe, disaster, hardly.

Jones, the American champion, and Perkins, current champion of England, was the billing for this final round for the national amateur title, an attraction utterly without precedent in the history of American golf. Seventeen years ago, Harold H. Hilton survived to the final round of the championship, the first Englishman to achieve this distinction and, until today, the last. Hilton even did more. He won the title, beating Fred Herreshoff on the thirty-seventh hole.

Hilton, like Perkins, was champion in his own right before he ever saw America. But Herreshoff, unlike Jones, never was. And, so, not only does the analogy cease at this point but it does so with disquieting effect upon Perkins' chances of repeating the Hilton triumph and become amateur champion of the two major countries. Unfortunately for Perkins, he will be meeting no Herreshoff today.

Perkins Is Good.

He will be meeting, as a matter of fact, at once the greatest amateur and the greatest medal player the world has known and a man keyed up to the dual responsibility of defending a title he won in 1924, 1925 and 1927, to say nothing of the prestige of American golf.

Jones on the other hand, will be meeting what many term the finest amateur England ever has sent here. He of course may turn out to be merely the best champion England had this year but the hook-up for the finals looks good in the billing and a great gallery is certain to roam Brae Burn's historic turf.

The only thing needed, in truth, to make the business perfect is Joe Humphries and his alto pronouncing Perkins as the "popular puglistic product of the old world."

He is all of that, a fighter first, last and at regular intervals in between. This is one element that give Perkins a chance. Another is the fact that he is quite a golfer. Anyhow, Boston, the cradle of American golf, won't muff this one. There probably will be as many as 10,000 mountain goats in human guise on the premises by mid-day.

Jones Favorite.

The only depressing feature of the occasion is the record of the Jones-Perkins match in the Walker cup series a few weeks ago. Jones won that one so easily that the dog-biting-the-man thing became news again. His margain of victory was 13 up and 12 to play and maybe the writer would regard this as important if it wasn't for two considerations.

One of these was Hagen's 18 and 17 defeat by Compston this year and Walter's victory in the British open just a week later. The other is the fact that the Tom Perkins who blew that one is only the same man today. He isn't the same golfer. He has found his stride during the acclimating interval, as Hagen did, and his record in the championship proves it. Barring Jones himself no golfer has been quite as impressive this week as was Perkins in successively disposing of dangerous Don McMoe, Yates, Dawson and Voigt, official medalist for the tournament. At that, only in flashes against Wolcott, Brown and Ray Gorton was Jones more effective than was Perkins. But, of course, his 70's against John Beck and Phillips Finlay the last two days left no room for comparative arguments.

Jones Has Best Scores.

Matching cards with Perkins yesterday, Jones would have been three up at the twenty-fourth hole, the point at which he had definitely crushed Finlay by 13 and 12. He was "up" on Perkins the day before, too, in annihilating Beck, another Englishman, by 14 and 13.

And if Jones is really Jones he will be up again today. For that really is all there is to any match between Jones and another amateur—the latter's hope that even perfection may not be quite the chronic thing the records indicate. Otherwise, be the opponent ever so good, he can have no real hope of beating the best when the latter is right.

Will Jones be right? Well he hasn't been wrong these many years and there is no reason to suspect that he intends to start at this late date. But neither is there anything to prevent him from taking Perkins too lightly, if he so wishes, and this is one of many things that shouldn't be done. From what he has shown here, the Briton should be taken almost as lightly as a load of pig iron.

HYBERT TO TEST OUT YOUNG FIRPO

Yarbo, one of the best middleweights in the country.

Firpo Has K. O. Punch

Firpo has been boxing for a couple of years and during that time has amassed 14 knockouts. Two of them have been gathered in this city, Joe Midway and George Perotta being victims. Red Jadabird and Joe O'Malley took healthy lacings, and to determine how good Firpo is the matchmaker, Bill Jolly, is bringing Hybert to his bowl and fans who see the fight should have a real treat.

Frankie Rio, the phantom kid, formerly of Sharon, will box some good boy in the semi-final, as Frankie Moran cannot box. Romeo Pacelli of New Castle, a prospect in the junior lightweight class, will fight Tommy Thompson of Cleveland and if Romeo goes good he will be helped along the fistic route.

Al Itovino, who has been called "Iodone", is booked to meet Roy Minteer, and according to Willie Davies, "Iodone" should win. The Charleroi battler hasn't been boxing long, but is a good puncher. Elmo Clark and Maxie Brown, a pair of light-heavies, will go on in the first bout and fans who pack the bowl Monday will see another of the shows that have made the bowl popular.

The first bout will start at 8:15 p. m.

Railroad To Name New Scenery Cars

Both Scenery And Horse Cars Will Be Given Special Names By Pennsy

The Pennsylvania Railroad is giving individual and distinctive names to 45 new theatrical scenery cars and 25 horse express cars now being turned out at the Altoona works for road service, it was learned this morning at the Erie and Ashtabula division offices.

The scenery cars will be names after great actors, actresses, musicians, singers and famous characters in dramatic and operatic productions. The horse express cars will bear the names of the great race tracks of the country.

Naming of these cars is a development in the policy recently started by the Pennsylvania System when it gave characteristic names to the limited trains in its freight service. The idea has also extended to many Pullman cars operating on the company's limited passenger trains.

Seek To Match Thompson And Young Corbett

Promoters Hope To Sign Coast Flash To Meet Jack Thompson, Negro Boxer

CANZONERI TO BATTLE ROUTIS

By SID MERCER
International News Service Special Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—As a result of the trick decision that deprived Sergeant Sammy Baker of his long deferred shot at the welterweight title, the rival California claimants, Young Corbett, the third, and Jack Thompson, will be matched at Madison Square Garden to produce a fresh challenger for Joe Dundee.

Tom McArdle, Garden matchmaker, is negotiating for the match and if Corbett and Thompson cannot be brought together then Thompson will probably get the title bout.

Dundee is said to be willing to gamble with the black boy, who recently knocked him out in a catchweights battle in Chicago, but isn't so keen about meeting Corbett, whose awkward style is not easily solved by orthodox boxers. For that matter Thompson is not enthusiastic about taking on Corbett again. The white boy holds a decision over Thompson and also fought him to a draw.

McArdle hopes to corral a title match for November. He will go before the boxing commission on next Tuesday for suggestions. It is believed the commission will frown on a Thompson-Dundee match and will order an eliminating bout between Corbett and Thompson.

Tony Canzoneri has signed to defend his featherweight title against Andre Routis, of France, on September 27, at the Garden.

The distance is fifteen rounds.

Tommy Grogan, Omaha lightweight slugger, and Joe Glick are the headliners on Oct. 5, distance 10 rounds.

Sammy Mandell is making the lightweight limit for Jimmy Goodrich at Flint, Mich., on Sept. 24. Mandell will thus put his title on the line but will not be taking much of a risk as Goodrich never was in Sammy's class as a boxer.

In one way this is sort of a grudge match. Goodrich eliminated Mandell from the lightweight tournament here three years ago when he won on a foul—the only one that appears on Mandell's record. Goodrich went on to win the tournament and title.

Davis Was Once Mascot Of Sharon

Labor Secretary Came To Mercer 45 Years Ago With His Team

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 15. — In his address here of recent date Secretary of Labor James J. Davis mentioned his first visit to Mercer 45 years ago as the mascot of the Sharon Grays, baseball team.

The team played Mercer here on that date.

H. H. Maskery of Mercer, well known sportman was at the game. His relation of the incidents that took place prove it quite a hectic event.

The late Powell DeFrance well known insurance man was the umpire of the day. "In those days," says Maskery, "baseball games were a community event. Rivalry was keen and feeling between close by towns ran high in the spirit of rivalry that existed. There were continued bickerings through the game which finally ended in a riot."

Davis himself relates of a game between Greenville and Sharon which illustrates this spirit of 40 years ago. The secretary in charge of the bats and water bucket was warned by Sharon team members to watch the water bucket closely that no drug might be added which would put the Sharon team "hors-de-combat."

Charge School Bus Crowded From Road

"Miller Steve," a member of a "gypsy" party traveling from Youngstown, was assessed a fine of $25 and costs by Alderman O. H. P. Green Friday afternoon, when information was made to the effect that a car of the gypsy leader had crowded a bus of the Shenango township school district off the Butler road at a point just beyond the Weingartner home on the New Castle-Butler road.

The school bus was loaded with 20 school children when the gypsy car crossed over the white line in the center of the road and then forced the bus to the side. In attempting to avoid a crash with the accused party, the driver of the school transport took to the side and in doing so came very near overturning.

N. Y. STOCKS

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Most of the traces of yesterday's brief collapse of the amusement stocks had passed before the end of the first hour today, and all sections of the market were ready for a moderate rally. The moving picture shares recovered about 5 points each for the Warners and 2½ points for Fox Film, the oils resumed without interruption the forward movement which has been in progress since Wednesday and the railroad stocks were again in demand at the best prices of the week.

A favorable impression was created in the financial district by the week-end business summaries, which recounted the continuation of progress in important lines of trade and industry. Bankers and brokers held out the prospect of a 6½ or even a 6 per cent call loan market next week, a more important immediate factor. Trading was somewhat restricted by the absence of operators and speculators in their observance of the religious holiday.

New York Central, Great Northern and other high grade railroad stocks led the upward movement in that section of the market. This is the harvest season for the railroads in more respects than one and the last four months of the year is the most important period of accumulation of railroad stocks. Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio and other standard dividend-payers advanced 1 to 3 points in confident manner. Equipment stocks were also well bought on the prospect of increasing business for the locomotive builders.

Miss Burnett Wins First Tennis Match Of Y.W. Tournament

Announcement Of Schedule Of Matches For Next Week's Games

Last night at 5 o'clock the big fall outdoor tennis tournament, conducted by the Y. W. C. A., was opened on the Gilfillan court on Clenmore boulevard.

The opening match was staged by Mary Tewell and Myrtle Burnett. A close and fast game was expected by the onlookers but they were doomed for disappointment as neither contestant appeared to be up to par. This especially was the case regarding Miss Tewell. Her tennis of last night was a let down from her tennis of this summer. The serves of both girls were sure but not particular speedy nor difficult to return. The type of tennis Miss Burnett really can play is anticipated when she meets her next opponent in the tourney.

Score for last night's match: First set 6-1, Burnett; second set, 6-2, Burnett.

Matches will be played every afternoon next week on the Gilfillan court except Friday. Schedule for next week:

Monday, Walls and Owens.

Tuesday, Weisbaker and Johnson, J.

Wednesday, Ekblom and Niemi; Brown and Kearns.

Thursday, Allen and Smith M.

Saturday, Noss and Johnson L.; Humble and Rech.

Any additions to above schedule will be published later.

Attendance Larger In County Schools

Although county superintendent of school, John C. Syling, has not yet secured figures on the total attendance this year in the schools of the county, he says that it will be considerably higher than last year.

Some of the schools are very much crowded. Nothing definite will be known on the number attending until the first month's report cards are sent to the county superintendent's office by the teachers.

Local Company Takes Over Theaters In Mercer County

Sharon, Farrell And Mercer Theaters Added To New Castle Corporation

Announcement was made today by Charles Freeman of the Peoples Amusement corporation of the formation of the Lawrence Amusement corporation, and the taking over of theatres in Sharon, Farrell and Mercer, Pa. The new corporation is composed of the same stockholders as the local theatre-owning corporation, but the new one is formed for the purpose of building a chain of theatres in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio. Within the near future it is planned to take over theatres in Greenville, Pa., and several eastern Ohio cities.

The Peoples Amusement corporation here, which is composed of the same stockholders, operates the Penn, Capitol and Regent theatres. During the summer months the Capitol has housed the Roberson-Smith Players in stock. This company closes at the Capitol tonight and the house will be closed until Thursday of next week for the purpose of renovating and redecorating.

Thursday, September 20, the Capitol will open with pictures and four acts of vaudeville: Contracts have been signed with Paramount, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and First National pictures for the release of their better productions, and four acts of vaudeville will be presented with each show.

Small Town Near Erie Visited By Damaging Blaze

Business Section Of Wattsburg, Pa., Is Hit By Fire, Loss Over $150,000

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 15.—Wattsburg, a little Erie county town of 600, the business district of which was practically wiped out by a $150,000 fire last night, expects to rise, Phoenix-like, from its ashes.

Twelve stores and four houses were destroyed by the flames, which swept through the row of two-story frame structures until they were halted after a three-hour fight.

It is believed that the Wattsburg Inn will be one of the first to be rebuilt, as will also the postoffice, one of the buildings destroyed.

Aid of a pumping machine from Erie finally checked the blaze, after companies from Corry, Clymer, N. Y., Northeast, Waterford and Union City responded to the alarm.

The present gift is from the Mrs. Roy F. Scheidemantle Bible class of the Third United Presbyterian church. It amounts to $2.50. This swells the total of the fund to $546.93.

DRUNK GETS VIOLENT; SPOILS OFFICERS SUIT

William Davis, also designated as 'Firpo) on the police report, because of his fighting propensities, was before Mayor William H. Gillespie this morning on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

He was assessed a fine of $10 with the alternative of spending two days in the county jail.

The police report showed that he had been found walking around in the Shenango street district by Officers Llewellyn.

When the officer attempted to bring him in, Davis put up a stiff fight to make his getaway. The result was that the clothing of the officer was damaged to some extent. Davis agreed to place the officers suit in good shape.

The treasury reports a heavy demand for bright new quarters and half dollars. Still and all, we won't refuse any of the old ones.—Portsmouth Daily Times.

CHIEF FIXES SCHOOL ZONE SPEED LIMIT

Fifteen Miles An Hour Is All That Is Allowed In School Zones

Operating of motor vehicles through school zones at a speed that exceeds the fifteen miles an hour or in a manner that indicates a lack of control of the machine, will not be permitted according to Chief of Police C. C. Horner.

While the speed permitted is fifteen miles an hour, providing the operator of the motor vehicle has it under perfect control, a lesser speed is safe and gives the operator of a motor vehicle greater control of his machine, according to the chief. It is hoped that all motorists will observe the greatest caution in school zones and elimate the necessity of ordering any person into police station to be fined.

Officers have also been advised to order in all motorists, who use the now improved Long avenue cartway as a speedway, or any other street of the city. Complaints received indicate that machines have been traveling on Long avenue at from thirty-five to forty miles an hour. This is contrary to the regulations of this city and also extremely dangerous to those having occasion to cross over or use the streets.

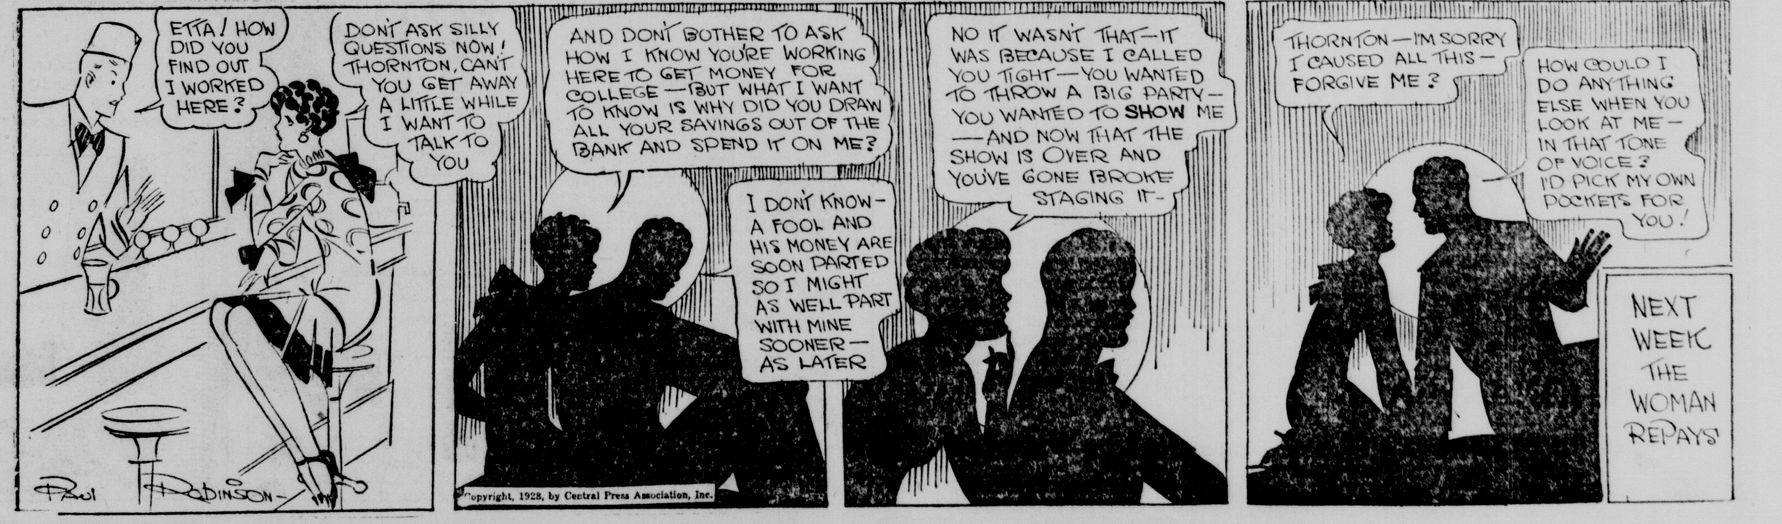

Just Among Us Girls

New Boy's Dormitory Is Entirely Completed

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 15.—C. H. Brown, cafeteria manager in the new Robert Audley Browne hall at Westminster, announces that the cafeteria will be officially opened on Monday night when the college football squad, coaches, and managers will be guests at a complimentary dinner.

The first meal to be served in the new cafeteria will begin at 5:30 Monday night, the regular training table time, and appropriately enough will be for men students of the college.

The new building is now ready for occupancy. This afternoon Clyde Gillifillan, contractor, is to hand over the keys of the dormitory to college officials. A thorough cleaning of the entire structure is now under way, and by Monday afternoon the building will be in the best of shape to receive new students.

Designed to accomodate about 150 people, the cafeteria in Browne hall is most modern in equipment and appointments. A complete bake shop, a battery of ranges for cooking, and electrical devices for toasting, boiling eggs, peeling potatoes, making waffles, and mixing dough make the kitchen adequate to handle even larger crowds.

Adjoining the kitchen is a refrigeration plant which will provide ice for the entire dormitory system of the college, and a stock room to store eatables for the various dormitory tables will make buying in large quantities possible.

Anti-Smith Democrats Organize At Memphis

National Constitutional Committee Has Representatives From 17 States

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 15.—A meeting attended by representatives from 17 states formed the national constitutional Democratic committee which, in a statement, declared that "we believe in the principles of a Democratic party and it is primarily because of our devotion to them that we are determined to do all in our power to take the party out of the hands of Tammany Hall."

"We believe," statement continues, "that Governor Smith's defeat by an outstanding majority will serve to rebuke the unauthorized attempt he has made to make ours a wet party, and will contribute significantly to the rededication of the party of Andrew Jackson to battle for the preservation of the constitution and the maintenance of the integrity of the federal laws."

Governor Smith, said the statement, "has conspicuously bolted the Houston Democratic platform on prohibition and on immigration restriction, and by his own act has released Democrats as such from any obligation to accord him support."

ABE MARTIN On The Political Campaign

IN TH' OLE DAYS WHEN A DEMOCRAT WUZ A DEMOCRAT AN' A REPUBLICAN WUZ A REPUBLICAN.

This presidential campaign should afford a dandy opportunity t' study American political behavior, as it has more elements o' uncertainty, more unique issues, more excuses fer shiftin', many more millions t' spend, an' more high-brow floppers, than any national political struggle in many years. Th' Republicans are claimin' Texas an' are afraid o' losin' Illinoy, while th' Democrats are sure o' th' wheat belt, but will flood th' cotton states with spell-binders. Th' Republicans are uneasy about ever'thing but Philadelphia, Los Angeles, an' Westerville, O., while th' Democrats don't feel jest certain o' anything 'cept Clinton, Indianny, Newark, N. J. and New York city. Most prominent college heads seem t' prefer Al Smith, while all th' disgruntled Democrats who had presidential aspirations are openly fer Herb Hoover. Never before has ther been as many states listed as doubtful. Ever since it wuz published that each national committee would spend five or six million dollars long-faced state chairmen have been rushin' t' headquarters t' report that ther states would be very close. Th' farmer vote is liable t' swing t' either party. It all depends on which party th' farmers finally decide is most likely t' deliver th' goods, as both candidates have promised t' do ever'thing that's possible an' impossible fer th' agriculturist but tune up his auto. Th' stay-at-home vote has got th' political dopesters guessin', as nobuddy stays at home any more. It is now referred t'as th' stay-in-the-car vote. Th' silent vote is composed o' folks who'er not quite sure Hoover won't make prohibition obnoxious, an' who'er afraid t' come out openly fer Smith. Th' enormous hypocrite vote is worryin' both national committees, an' so fer no feasible scheme fer corallin' it has been evolved. Th, beer makers compose another great bulk o' humanity whose intentions are clouded in mystery, an' who'er bafflin' our most skillful Washin'ton forecasters, while th' millions who don't read nothin' but th' comic sections is another formidable array o' human bein's that must be checked up an' classified as wet, lukewarm, or dry, fer or against Boulder dam, or opposed to, or fer, a fair return fer th' farmer, an' what not. Then ther's another considerable element that's confusin' our most seasoned political organizers, an' that's th' people who'll vote if they kin find a place t' park. So fer not enough is known o' th' attitude o' "th' man in th' street" t' give encouragement t' either party. He is thinkin' more about gittin' across than he is about th' Colorado river, an' Mussel Shoals, an' farm relief, an' he's fer more interested in his own constitutional rights than he is about any constitutional amendments. No former presidential candidate wuz ever confronted by such a motely aggregation o' electors. We've traveled fer politically since th' portly, cleanshaven high protectionist an' th' baggy, bewhiskered tariff reformer fought it out with Roman candles.

Foster's Weather Forecast

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Storm center of moderate force expected to cross continent during week centering on 14 will be followed by a decided drop in average temperatures centering on 17; this cool period will be general over the continent, will cause only moderate precipitation and lowest temperatures, relative to local normals, will occur in eastern parts of sections 2, 4 and 6; during this cool wave, killing frosts will threaten entire corn belt but, as corn crop is well advanced and September 16 is about normal time for killing frosts in northern half of corn belt, little damage will be expected. Storm wave of mild force, expected to cross continent during week centering on 22, will be of little consequence. Most precipitation of this month was expected during period 4 to 11; last half of month to be much less stormy and wet than first half; this is expected to be one September when equinoctial storms, so called, will not occur very near the date of equinox, which occurs September 23 at 7:06 a. m. Greenwich time and is the official starting of Autumn.

General precipitation of North America is expected to decrease after September 15 and area of heaviest precipitation to move gradually westward after that date; this area, so magnetized as to cause precipitation upon itself, will be expected to move to western Great Central valleys during last half of Sept. and first half of October, move to Pacific slope October 15 to November 15, then out on the Pacific ocean. Those who have followed precipitation forecasts in these bulletins, especially during past year, realize that such forecasts are based upon something other than guessing. Those who have taken the trouble to learn to apply such forecasts to their immediate vicinity will be repaid for their trouble many times during the next two years. Average cropweather of North America during 1930 cropseason will be almost the reverse of that of 1929 cropseason. During 1929 a period of the cropseason will be too wet in large areas of North America, while almost the same areas will be very dry during the same period of 1930. During first half of 1929 cropseason, precipitation will come mostly from minor evaporation points that will be very changeable; during last half of 1929 cropseason, evaporation point will be located southwest of our west coast, probably causing excessive moisture on south and west slopes and land approaching those slopes; late harvest in North America will be very wet in large areas during 1929.

Phases of the Moon occur as follows: First quarter September 22, full 29, last quarter October 6, new 13, first quarter 21, full 28, last quarter November 4.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

REMEMBERED

Humanity does well when it marks with monuments and shrines the memory of its great servants. The names of heroes should not fade out of human remembrance. In 1821 the march of a Turkish army was halted by the Greek defenders of their own land. The Greeks were led by General Ypsilanti. A pleasant Michigan town was named for him. The other day a statue, given by a Greek-American patriotic organization, was presented to the town and a speech made by the governor.

WORTH RECALLING

Speaking of remembering, the sad fact is that the memory of the greatest does not always endure as well as that of the lesser. Ask the average man or woman whether the great President Eliot, of Harvard, is dead and you may get a doubtful answer. Ask if Valentino is dead, and everybody knows. And they died the same day.

WHAT HAVE YOU?

It would seem perfectly clear that one can not impart what he does not have. Yet we find parents expecting their children to be a great deal better than fathers and mothers. We find teachers assuming they can teach others more than they, themselves, know. Before we can give, we must have.

WORDS

A clever advertising writer writes: "Words have amazing power. The world offers its treasures of money, power, and position to the skillful users of them. There are words to bend men's mind's to your will; words to express every shade of meaning."

That's all very good and true. But he goes on to say that by a cheap and easy spare-time method you can become the master of words. That, of course, is where his own words hardly convince. There is no cheap and easy method to any mastery.

INVENTIONS

In speaking of the advantage of these modern times and the luxuries we enjoy which our grandfathers didn't have, we too often speak of autos, telephones, radios, etc. Perhaps there are other things, less commonly talked about, that have done more for us. How about anesthetics, modern surgery, hospitals and the astonishing discoveries of medical science?

Price Of Pepper Pepping Upward

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Housewives may as well prepare for high-priced white or black table pepper during the coming winter.

Spice brokers and importers of peppers reports there is a short crop in India and Java, the world's two principal bases of supply.

Pepper is now selling for 7 and 8 cents an ounce in New York groceries, but the quotations on whole black pepper in the brokerage field of that city has mounted from about 20 to 36 cents a pound, and is expected to go to 40 cents.

London is the general clearing market for pepper and spices and practically all consumed in the United States is purchased in that city.

Wholesalers in Cleveland report an advance of four cents a pound during the past few weeks, the jobbing quotation of whole black pepper being 37 cents a pound and whole white 56½ cents.

Hotel Managers Must Know Score Of Things

"Where do the college boys go?"

From all appearances they go to the hotels. Up at the Castelton, the percentage of college men runs high. Hotel management today means considerably more than in the old days when the bar room was the big thing and the coffee grill and sleeping quarters a different matter.

Up at The Castleton, those in charge are practically all college men. John L. Slack, manager of the hotel, ig a graduate of Lafayette, and also of Cornell university.

Stuart B. Howson, stewart of the Castleton, is a Michigan man while Emmet Shanley, assistant stewart is a graduate of Dennison. Julian Vance, clerk, is a graduate of Colgate university. Hilda Shanley, coffee grill cashier, is a graduate of Dennison college and Harry Lackey, chief engineer, attended Fredonia institute.

Thus we have the college staff of The Castleton.

It is interesting to note that all have to go to school to learn the hotel business— a business which was once thought to be shoved off on a man who could carry baggage and stand long hours.

At the hotel management school, the prospective and embyronic managers of our huge modern day hotels go to school. There they learn to cook, they know draperies and color shades, find out how curtains should be done up, they butcher cattle and cut the meat, they learn the laws concerning hotels, well, they do about everything.

When they finish the school, they can clerk at the desk, furnish a hotel, cook the food, kill the meant and cut it, smash your baggage with the greatest care and what not.

That's what hotel people learn nowadays. When you meet one, ask him a question if there's something you want to know. They know about most everything.

A writer suggests 13 ways for a wife to lose her husband but she might succeed, we suspect, without having to avail herself of all of them.

Parents who once yearned to seem "refined" now have children who are content to seem sophisticated.
